Memorial Day Observed With Solemn Rites

Biggest Parade In Many Years Wends Way To Greenwood Cemetery

ATTORNEY BRAHAM DELIVERS ADDRESS

Makes Plea For Internal Peace Within Borders Of United States

One of the largest gatherings to participate in Memorial Day services in recent years, was noted Thursday, when the annual Memorial Day celebration took place here.

The services were of the same character as have been the order here for many years, the observers forming in parade formation at the Legion home, and marching to the Penn theater, where services there were followed by a second ceremony at Greenwood cemetery, when the graves of veterans buried in the soldier's plot at the cemetery were decorated.

Braham Is Speaker

Attorney W. Walter Braham was the orator of the day, and delivered a splendid address, in which he warned against any thought of doing away with our present form of government in favor of a dictatorship.

Attorney Braham stated that those present were not met to celebrate war, but to honor the young man who left his vocation. He pictured him in the battles of the Wilderness, Gettysburg; at Manila Bay and San Juan Hill, Cantigny, St. Mihiel, and Chateau Thierry.

"We want to remember these young men with tenderness and respect," he said. "We want to honor

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Safety in driving seems to have been observed on the highways of Lawrence County and vicinity over the Memorial Day holiday period. No serious accidents were reported, despite the heavy traffic.

Pa Newc notes that the detours on the new highway between Leesburg and Grove City have all been removed. The bridges which have been in the course of construction for some months past have been completed and are now in use.

Motorists will certainly be rooting for some results in the move to have the little strip of dirt road at Volant between the improved highways, paved. The dirt road is a rough stretch, and it seems that there certainly is some method for improving this half mile or so to connect up the other routes.

* * *

The Spirea bushes in the city, and they are countless, are at the height of their glory, all out in bloom at the present time. It is remarkable how many properties are decorated with Spirea.

Men employed at the quarantine station along the New Castle road near New Bedford, have spent their spare time to advantage in improving the appearance of their little station. It looks much like a little park along the highway.

Faithful as usual, the Croton school band was in the line of march at the Memorial Day parade yesterday. The uniforms of the boys, which were purchased during the World War days, almost 20 years ago, are still being used, but are beginning to show the effect of long year's of service, it was noted yesterday, although they still look good.

Daily Weather Report

U. S. weather statistics for the 24-hour period ending at 9 o'clock this morning follow:

Post Commander Clark Only Civil War Veteran In Memorial Day Events

Post Commander D. M. Clark, of Post 100, G. A. R., was the only Civil war veteran in the annual Memorial Day observance and parade yesterday, and was given signal honor by the big audience at the Memorial Day services in the Penn theater, when they arose and cheered him to a man.

Mr. Clark was unable to attend the Memorial Day services last year, but stated that he expected to be around next year.

Commander Clark enlisted at the age of 15, and is now 88 years of age. He is one of eight Civil war veterans who survive in Lawrence county, all of whom have been given many tributes during the past week. Mr. Clark was transported to and from the cemetery in the car of Fred L. Rentz, who has provided transportation for the Civil war veterans unable to march for a number of years past.

Union Class Is Given Diplomas

Group Of 46 Seniors Graduated By School—Dr. Pearce Speaks

HONOR SENIORS ON EVENING PROGRAM

Speaking on "This Interesting World", President McCleod M. Pearce of Geneva College told the 46 members of Union township high school's class of 1935 and their friends on Wednesday evening that "all of us have some talent", and that to make the most use of our talents "we must dare to live life at its fullest."

The Geneva president's address featured the school's annual commencement program, in which honor graduates and school authorities took part. The Union auditorium, crowded to the doors, was attractively decorated with flowers on the stage and a touch of red and white, the class colors, here and there.

Conway Presents Diplomas

Supervising Principal Roy F. Conway presented the diplomas to the graduates.

"The Development of the Union Township Schools" was the theme of the salutatorian's address, given by Alice Reed. She told the audience that in 1806 Union township's first school, a log cabin, was built at Parkstown.

The valedictorian of the class, Mary Wasitosky, spoke on "The Value of a High School Education" and traced the development of high

Gang Sought In Luer Kidnaping Now In Custody

Four Men And Woman Held By Federal Men For 1933 Crime

BANK ROBBERIES ALSO INVOLVED

Walter Holland, Alias "Irish" O'Malley, Is Held As Leader Of Gang

(International News Service)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 31.—Walter Holland, alias "Irish" O'Malley, accused as the ringleader in the kidnaping of August Luer, Alton, Ill., banker in July, 1933, is under arrest with four associates, the Kansas City bureau of the United States Department of Justice announced here today.

Those taken with Holland were Dan T. Heddy, Floyd Henderson and Dewey Gilmore, and Heddy's wife. The four men have criminal records, according to the bureau's agents.

The agents said the arrest of the gang solved a number of daring bank robberies perpetrated in the mid-west in past years.

Arrested Last Sunday

Holland, Heddy and his wife were arrested in an apartment house here Sunday morning when police and agents surrounded the building. They surrendered without a fight although a quantity of arms and a machine gun were found on the premises.

Gilmore was arrested on May 24

Second Victim Of Accident Dies

Henry Heffelder, Injured In Accident On Perry Highway Monday, Dies Today

CAR DRIVEN AT TERRIFIC SPEED

Henry Heffelder, aged 28, of 510 Sherman avenue, North Side, Pittsburgh, who was injured in an automobile crash along the Perry highway Monday morning, died this morning at 4:40 in the New Castle hospital

Heffelder's death was the second to result from this crash, his companion, Reinhard Schuerfeld, also of Pittsburgh, passing away Wednesday morning.

The two men were riding in an automobile, which overturned in front of the Gale Dean farm at Grant City, rolling over, end over end

According to the information secured by Coroner Orville Potter, the machine must have been operated at a terrific rate of speed . Marks on the highway showed that it had hurtled 44 feet through the air on the first bounce, and kept rolling for a distance of 275 feet. Both men were thrown from the machine, one being hurled into the barnyard of the Dean farm, many feet off the highway.

Their deaths have been pronounced accidental by Coroner Potter, who announced that no inquest would be held in the case.

Toadstools Cause Death Of Four In Minnesota Family

(International News Service)

PINE RIVER, Minn., May 31—Four children of J. D. Young were dead today and a fifth lay in a critical condition at a local hospital as the result of eating toadstools which the hungry family had gathered on a mushroom hunt.

While physicians were trying to save the life of Rosella, 12, funeral services were being arranged for her four brothers and sisters. The dead are Donald, 10, Robert, 8, Verda, 6, and Raymond 4.

Their relief funds exhausted, the family of twelve resorted to eating mushrooms and accidentally picked up some poisonous toadstools.

No Serious Auto Accidents Here

State highway patrolmen today stated that so far as they knew there were no serious accidents on improved roads in Lawrence county, Memorial Day.

A few arrests were made. One of the persons arrested was George Burroughs of Beaver Falls. He was arrested on the Ellwood City-Zelienople road by Patrolman Betts who accused him of driving while intoxicated. He will be given a hearing in Beaver county.

Seek To Form French Cabinet In Gold Crisis

France At Same Time Wages Effort To Locate Gold Speculators

TROOPS GUARD BANK OF FRANCE

Bourse Is Opened At 12:30 P. M., After Being Closed All Morning

By MICHAEL WILSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, May 31—With bayonets fixed, grim-faced troops guarded the bank of France today as Premier-designate Fernand Bouisson struggled to form a new cabinet and police launched an intensive campaign to unearth the mysterious "foreign spectators" held responsible for the unprecedented drain on France's gold reserves.

Records of brokerage houses and banks were subjected to police scrutiny and telegrams dealing with speculative activities seized at post office branches.

But in spite of their efforts, the gold drain, which precipitated the financial crisis forcing Premier Pierre-Etienne Flandin out of office in dramatic circumstances early this morning continued unabated.

Paris workers, tense and anxious over the situation, viewed with surprise the military guard assigned to the bank of France, for it was the

Since leaving Bishop's Rock, tiny European outpost, yesterday, the 79,000 ton streamlined steamer has averaged 29.5 knots. The present world's record for an Atlantic crossing, held by the Italian Liner Rex, was made with an average of 28.92.

SANTA MONICA, Cal., May 31.—Our state assembly is having a terrible fight. There is 27 EPICS (eliminate poverty in California), the Sinclair ticket. That's out of a membership of 80 in the lower house.

Well, the fight is just among these 27. It's a bill to stop all these unemployed that's flocking into the state. (It passed the lower house.)

Some EPICS say they can eliminate the poverty in the state, but they can't eliminate all the poverty that comes in. Others say that one state can't bar people of other states.

All of which gets back to my plan, that is of being able to wire the supreme court and ask them; they reply with a night letter, and the whole thing is settled once and for all.

Hunt Despicable Vandal For Deliberate Destruction Of Laurel Boulevard Tree

City Forester Owen P. Fox is in the frame of mind to commit aggravated assault and battery and the residents of Laurel boulevard are burning with indignation over the wanton destruction of a beautiful Chinese elm which was planted in the parkway of the boulevard. Some sadistically minded fiend destroyed the tree, not by breaking it down, but by fiendishly planting a bottle of gasoline down among the roots.

The damage was first noted several weeks ago when the tree began to wilt. No pest marks could be found on the leaves and no borers were found in the bark. It was just wilting. Finally Forester Fox decided to replace the tree, as he had had other trees to replace, but in digging it up, did some investigating.

Well under the surface of the ground he found a bottle of gasoline so placed that it dripped out into the earth. The earth down under the surface reeked of the gasoline and the roots of course were burned by the fluid.

Second Note From Kidnapers Sent To Family

Hope Renewed That George Weyerhaeuser Will Soon Be Returned

BOY ABDUCTED ONE WEEK AGO

No Contact As Yet Established With Kidnapers, Believed Karpis Gang

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

TACOMA, Wash., May 31.—"We are making no progress," with a sob in his voice, H. M. Balcom, of Seattle, spokesman for the Weyerhaeuser family, admitted today efforts to recover little George Weyerhaeuser, 9, from his kidnapers had reached a stalemate.

Thousands of automobiles circled the Weyerhaeuser home this morning with curious eyes viewing the saddened home.

TACOMA, Wash., May 31.—"A week's time." Those three words had a significant meaning in the Weyerhaeuser kidnaping mystery today — seven days after curly haired George Weyerhaeuser, 9, was snatched in broad daylight for $200,000 ransom.

To John Philip Weyerhaeuser, timber magnate, and his wife, parents of the missing child, this day brought new hope that little George soon would be home.

Base Hope On Note

A spokesman for the Weyerhaeuser family said the parents based their hope on a section of the "egoist's" ransom note, which read:

"So if you just follow the rules as they are lain down by us you will have the one you love back home in A WEEK'S TIME if you care about them $200,000 worth."

The anguished Weyerhaeusers insist, the spokesman said, that

India Quake Takes Heavy Death Toll

Meagre Reports Indicate Thousands Perish In Baluchistan Area

REPORT 43 MEMBERS OF AIR FORCE KILLED

(International News Service)

LONDON, May 31. — A death roll of 30,000 was reported today in the earthquake which razed Quetta, capital of British Baluchistan and one of the most important British military posts in India.

KARACHI, India, May 31.—Four-fifths of the population of Quetta, India, including 43 members of the British Royal Air Force, were killed today in a disastrous earthquake which devastated a large area of Baluchistan, according to meagre reports reaching here.

The quake apparently completely wrecked the important British military post at Quetta, where the 43 R. A. F. victims were assigned.

The entire city of Quetta was razed, the dispatches said, but whether the 80 per cent death toll was confined to the native district alone or embraced the populous military cantonment was problematical.

Latest official British figures, compiled in 1921, place the population of Quetta and its cantonment at 49,000, but it is now believed to be nearer 60,000 . If the early reports are substantiated, the quake will prove to have been one of the most disartrous in history, with the deaths

Expect Long To Get Appointment

Vacancy In Office Of Internal Revenue Bureau Will Be Filled

Within a few days the appointment of James R. Long is expected to be announced as collector of internal revenue for this district, replacing Paul B. McCandless, who has been relieved. The appointment will come through the office of Democratic state chairman David Lawrence.

No reason was given McCandless for his dismissal and for a time it was thought that the office here was to be abolished. McCandless was appointed shortly after President Roosevelt took office and the change now is apparently an intra-party fight as McCandless is a Democrat.

Roosevelt Gives His Deductions On NRA Decision

Says All New Deal Legislation Imperilled By Philosophy Of Court

TELLS REPORTERS OF HIS OPINIONS

First Statements On Decision Come From White House This Morning

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 31.—The Supreme Court's decision knocking out the NRA—and especially the philosophy expressed in the language of the court—imperils the whole range of New Deal Legislation in President Roosevelt's opinion.

Moreover, Mr. Roosevelt believes that the implications raised by the court make the decision the most important and historic since the Dred Scott decision, and raises one of the most vital issues the country has ever faced in peace time.

Lengthy Conference

Mr. Roosevelt's views on the court's decision were ascertained today in the course of a lengthy press conference, in which he discussed in considerable detail the court's interpretation of the interstate commerce clause of the constitution.

The interpretation that the court chose to put upon this phase of the constitution in the president's opinion, takes the country back to the "horse and buggy" days of commerce between the states.

The issue is squarely raised by the court's decision, Mr. Roosevelt believes, as to whether the government of the Unitesd States is to be able to exercise any control over the great economic problems that face the country and demand solution. And that, he added, is a question that the people themselves will have to decide.

The whole trend of legislation in

Origin of the fire could not be immediately determined.

All winter long his game was good, he practiced irons and his wood, his form was right his stance was good, but that was in December. He remedied a nasty slice, his grip was firm, his judgment nice, this year he'd have the game on ice, but just remember. That games are played when June is here, when grass is green and skies are clear, and winter scores are always queer, they're estimated. But now the summer has come back, he's tried that century to crack, but woe is him, alas alack, the weather's seventy eight.

SIX KILLED IN HOLIDAY CRASHES

State Traffic Toll Is Heavy

Many Injured In Addition To Those Who Were Fatally Hurt

THREE DEATHS OCCUR IN WESTERN AREA

(International News Service)

Motor travel over Pennsylvania's highways on Memorial Day claimed six lives but two score persons were injured, many seriously, an International News Service survey revealed today.

Three persons lost their lives in western Pennsylvania, two in central Pennsylvania and one in the eastern area.

The death toll in western Pennsylvania was not large but more than a score were injured in numerous crashes.

Miss Cecile Stoltz, 26, Erie, met death when a car in which she was riding crashed into a truck at a street intersection. Three other persons were injured when two automobiles collided in Erie.

Joe Pacic, 34, Midland, was found fatally injured along the Midland-Beaver highway after his automobile left the highway and crashed into a telephone pole.

In Pittsburgh Area.

Several crashes were reported in the Pittsburgh area. Miss Nettie Marr, 32, died from injuries received when an automobile in which she was riding overturned near Midway after sideswiping a truck.

The accident toll was comparatively low in the central Pennsylvania area with two deaths reported and only several collisions.

Roy Walkingshaw, 33, of Williamstown was killed and his wife and two other persons were injured when their automobile crashed into a tree near Tower City

In Lackawanna county, six-year-old Anthony Poppovitch of Montdale was fatally injured when struck by an automobile near his home.

Two state highway patrolmen were seriously injured in separate accidents, one near Lewistown and the other near Gettysburg.

Despite heavy automobile traffic to and from mountain resorts, only one fatal automobile accident occurred to mar Memorial Day in eastern Pennsylvania, but scores of others were injured in less serious mishaps

The fatal crash occurred when a car driven by William Bagley, 25, of New York, ran off an "S" curve at Morrisville, killing Bagley and his companion, Miss Gertrude Spring, 24, daughter of a wealthy mill official of Bristol

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

G. I. Waltenbaugh was taken to the New Castle hospital by police last night for treatment of a wound on his head, received at the Allen apartment house. He had apparently been struck.

their valor. In doing so, however, we must honor something more than courage, for the cave man, defending his rude domicile, had courage; the pirate, spoiler of the seas had courage; as did many other defenders of a questionable cause. Many of the worst causes in history were defended by brave men. We should not honor valor unless it is for a merited cause.

"In this hour, we should have ideals of peace. We should look upon our government as an instrument of peace. We should not surrender our government for one like that of Russia, Germany, Italy, or Austria, with its dictator form of government.

"In these troubled times, the people feel that there should be some other way of government. They point to Mussolini, Hitler, and say, 'See what they have done.' It is this one thing we must fight against.

Monarchy Is Delusion

"The idea of putting our trust in a single strong man is now new. It is a delusion that has been followed for centuries. Of all the kings of England, there is only one who stood out as a great ruler for the people, Alfred, the Great. The French had only one Charlemagne and Napoleon; the state they built up came down in ruins. Germany had her Frederick, the Great, but the state he built up came to grief in 1917 and 1918. There is nothing new in tyrrany. They all started out benevolently. It is usually the man who follows the great man, who is the tyrant. We should think of our boys. The time may come when they might want to throw off the yoke of the dictator. But he has all the weapons of modern warfare at his command. You cannot stand against machine guns and bombs with shotguns and rifles.

"There is no hope for the future when we place our trust in the hands of men other than those we elect ourselves. They may fail us at times and betray the trust we place in them, but we can take them away and supplant them with better men. Our refuge is not in kings or dictators, but in an elected ruler and congress.

"We enjoy the blessing of free speech, of the open court. The people of many foreign lands do not enjoy the blessings of an open court. It means to us that we cannot be tried by any but a jury composed of our peers. You wouldn't have that right in Germany.

Clark Is Honored.

"The thing for us to do is to hang onto the splendid form of government we have at the present time. I do not mean that we shouldn't criticize. We can criticize vigorously. That is what keeps our government straight. We should yield our devotion to that government which protects us."

In concluding, Attorney Braham paid tribute to D. M. Clark, commander of Post 100, G. A. R., the only Civil war veteran of the eight in the county who now survive, who was present. Mr. Clark responded to the tremendous ovation which was given him in a simple manner.

The entire program at the theater, which was presided over by Ralph M. Campbell, general chairman of the Memorial Day celebration, consisted of selections by the American Legion Cadet band, followed by the invocation by Rev. Charles Warren Johnstone; selection by a boys' trio, composed of Leroy Todd, Albert Trenga and George Duncan of the Union township high school; Lincoln's Gettysburg address by Ralph Davies of the senior high school; a beautiful solo number by Mrs. Thomas McNicholas, accompanied by Mrs. Gomer Emery; the address by Attorney Braham and the benediction by Rev. Johnstone.

Reynolds Speaks.

After reaching the cemetery, the paraders formed about the soldiers' plot, where the ritualistic service of the United Spanish War Veterans took place. Attorney Walter S. Reynolds delivered a splendid eulogy to those who have passed on, flowers were strewn on the graves by a group of Boy Scouts from the different troops of the city, a volley was fired by the firing squad from the Sons of Veterans Reserve, taps was blown by Charles Marshall and the service was ended thing is beyond the reasoning of normal human beings. The tree could not possibly have injured anyone for it was an ornament in a lovely park way. It had attained a height of about seven feet and was one of the prettiest trees in the plot.

HUNT VANDAL FOR DESTRUCTION OF BOULEVARD TREE

Only one with a twisted mentality could have done such a destardly thing and city authorities are endeavoring to find who it was. A fine of $500 and a prison sentence are waiting for the person responsible.

This is not the first tree that has been destroyed in the Laurel boulevard parkway. Others have died mysteriously, probably for the same reason. The residents along the boulevard are anxious to apprehend the criminal and any citizen knowing anything of it is derelict in his duty if he does not report the one responsible to the authorities.

The epicenter of the quake was between Quetta and the ancient former Persian town of Kalat.

Earthquake-stricken Quetta is one of the most important British military posts along the northwestern India frontier.

Situated in a plateau 5,500 feet above sea level, it is surrounded by a ring of extinct volcanic mountains, towering 11,000 feet high.

The British defensive system erected here to protect the important Khojak Pass leading into Afghanistan led to the growth of the former village into a busy and populous city, the trading center for western Afghanistan, eastern Persia and other extensive areas.

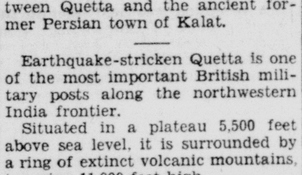
The STAMP ALBUM



WHEN THE American Legion convened in Paris in 1927, France issued a stamp bearing the portraits of George Washington and Lafayette, the latter a French nobleman who was one of Washington's most faithful generals during the American revolution. Both played an important part in the destinies of their native lands after the revolution. Lafayette returned to France, took part in the French revolution, led an army against Austria in 1791, was captured and held a prisoner for five years until his release was obtained by Bonaparte in 1797. He died in 1834 after serving several terms in the Chamber of Deputies.

A beautiful home wedding, marked by simplicity, of interest to many New Castleites, was that which took place Thursday, May 30, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell Wishart, on the Sharon-Greenville road, when their charming daughter, Miss Margaret Wishart, became the bride of Clarence A. Bratschie, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Bratschie, 201 Elm street, this city.

The vows were exchanged at 8:30 o'clock in the evening, with the Dr. W. L. Wishart, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Sharon, officiating in the presence of the immediate families of the young couple. The impressive single ring service was used.

To strains of the Lohengrin wedding chorus, played by Miss Maude Mitchell, of New Castle, an aunt of the groom, the bride entered on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She was lovely in a white lace creation, and carried an arm bouquet of talisman roses and valley lilies. This took place before an altar, beautifully embanked with an array of the season's choicest flowers, and during the pronunciation of the pledges, Miss Mitchell rendered softly, music to "Oh Promise Me." The couple was unattended.

UNEARNED TAXES ARE UNPAID TAXES

THERE are two distinct phases to the tax problem.

First, the cost of government is nearing the point where it will become literally impossible for the people to pay—without losing their homes, cutting down industrial production and employment, depreciating investments to below their present abysmal levels, and sustaining an almost infinite number of business failures. To some degree these effects are already evidenced.

Second, the burden of taxation, serious as it is, is made the more serious because of the fact that it is inequitably distributed. In some communities, for example, real estate owners are paying over 84 per cent of all direct tax levies—in addition to their full share of indirect levies. In other states and communities, income taxes, levied on top of the federal income tax, are playing havoc with the earnings of corporations and individuals. In the words of the Manufacturer's Record, "We are slow to accept the absolute fact that property which does not earn its tax cannot continue to pay it."

Any worthwhile effort to solve the problem of taxation must attack it on both fronts. Efforts to reduce government expenditures must be accompanied by efforts to distribute the cost fairly, equitably—and, above all, scientifically. One of the most discouraging signs of the time is the appearance of new and increased "special" or "class" taxes, which are inequitable, and penalize one group for the benefit of another. It is no exaggeration to say that these taxes, added as they are to general taxes which are already almost insuperable, constitute a grave and increasing threat to recovery.

At present, government is going in for "reform" activities of one kind or another on an unprecedented scale. It would be an excellent idea if our officeholders looked over their own domain, and put tax reform first on the list.

A HAUL FOR THE BUREAUCRAT

It seems inevitable that, in periods of stress, there should be demand for government ownership of basic industries.

It is equally inevitable that, once the movement gets headway, the railroad industry should be looked upon acquisitively by the government ownership advocate. In consequence, various public men are, sincerely or otherwise, pointing out to the public the alleged benefits that government ownership of the railroads would bring the nation—and they are making a few converts, who lack the means or the desire to obtain the actual facts.

The American taxpayer ought to know just what federal ownership of the lines would mean—and why it is advocated. It cannot be justified on the score of improving service, which is first-class now and is constantly improving. Nor can it be justified on the grounds of "watered securities", in spite of all the hue and cry to that effect. The Interstate Commerce Commission, after 24 years of fact finding, estimates the worth of the railroads at $24,000,000,000, as against a total capitalization of $19,000,000,000.

If the railroads are taken over by government, it will benefit no one save the politicians, who will be given a $24,000,000,000 industry, employing a million men, to play with. The railroads represent a tenth of our national productive capital of wealth. They buy 25 per cent of all coal mined, 17 per cent of all fabricated steel, 17 per cent of all manufactured lumber. What a prospective haul for the bureaucrat—at the expense of the taxpayer!

Federal ownership of the rails would be a national calamity, and it would act to the detriment of all business. If past experience is any arbiter, it would lower the standards of service—and either raise rates or cause vast deficits for the treasury to pay.

THE "BOUNTY" DESCENDANTS

Roughly 150 years later, the nine English mutineers of the British ship Bounty and the 12 native women, who went with them to the remote and at that time practically unknown Pitcairn Island in the Pacific Ocean, have twice re-entered the news of the day directly and indirectly. Some 200 descendants of the original mutineers and their Polynesian consorts have been reported by a National History Museum party from New York, and the whole strange story again becomes public property. And "Queen" Joanna of Tahiti is dead, daughter of a shipwrecked sailor and a native princess.

Oddly enough, the theory of malign influences attendant upon human inbreeding seems subject to some revision. Dr. H. L. Shapiro, a specialist in anthropology for the museum, who has returned to New York, reports that the Pitcairn Islanders as they are today as a pretty high grade, seeming more English than Polynesian and still retaining characteristics traceable directly to their Anglo-Saxon forbears. For more than a century occasional ships have visited the island so that newspapers and books are by no means unknown. Barter has always taken the place of money.

"Queen" Joanna was no longer a Queen, but she did not seem to mind. Of late years she had lived in a hut and kept some sort of state, devoting herself to study of ancient Tahitian legends. Her age was not definitely fixed, but in 1927 she was named by France a member of the Legion of Honor; the belief is she was at least 80. The South Seas still are tellers of strange tales.

The way to live in peace without armament is to behave well and possess nothing that others covet.

Just when our hopes of recovery were beginning to rise high we learned that only fifty-four new colonels were created in Kentucky in April, as compared with seventy-two in March.

WHEN A FUSE BLOWS OUT

Suddenly a fuse blows out and the lights go off....Sometimes it happens in a storm and the entire house is in darkness. Sometimes it occurs because too many accessories have been attached to one circuit and only one fuse is burned out. The kitchen, the dining room and one bedroom are without lights.

So somebody gets a flashlight or lights a candle and finds the extra fuses—they ought to be right alongside of the fuse box, but half the time they aren't—and stumbles down the cellar stairs to change the fuses. ....It's not much of a job. You fumble around until you find the fuse that's burned and then you replace it...and the lights go on again.

And you realize that this fuse that burns out is in fact a protection against greater inconvenience than a few lights gone out. By weakening under the pressure of too great a load, it prevents your whole house from being destroyed by fire....A little strip of metal burns away and your home is safe.

But we are not so philosophical when a friend "blows up"....when someone we have known for years suddenly does something that surprises or disappoints us. We do not say to him: "Oh, well, it's just a small thing. The pressure was too great and he blew up temporarily. He's just the same old Bill that we've always known."

Instead we are more likely to say: "Well, I never knew Bill was like that. I thought I was a pretty fair judge of human nature, but he's been fooling me all these years."

It doesn't occur to us that this "blow-up" of Bill's may have saved him from something much more disastrous and tragic....We are complicated structures, far more difficult than the electric wiring of any house to understand. We have difficulty understanding ourselves, but we make snap judgments of other human beings. And sometimes we take even our own small puzzling "blow-ups" too seriously.

SNOBBISH ATTITUDE ASSUMED BY MANY WOMEN SOLELY AS A DEFENSE

Said an attractive woman: "I am much criticized for being cold and unapproachable. Some would call it "high hat" but they are far from the truth."

She went on: "When I was younger, I associated with people who were too forward on short acquaintance."

It seems that this woman did not like easy familiarity.

As a protection from these impertinent people, she had to assume a manner that would ward off undue advances.

"Looking over their heads" so to speak, was the easiest way to save embarrassment.

It grew to be a habit: it became a part of that woman's armor.

It was unfortunate, too, because at heart she was a very friendly person.

But she found that she could not be herself without bringing to herself unwelcomed attentions.

Naturally, she acquired a cold exterior.

One of the chief charms of some women is their gracious manner.

It is too bad when any woman feels that she must be less pleasing in order to get respectful, impersonal courtesy from the men with whom she must come in contact.

But there are many cases of this kind.

THE LONELY DOGWOOD TREE

I brought two dogwood trees to town
And guarded them with patient care.
The people passing up and down
I thought would smile to see them there.
For nothing comes from nature's loom
That's lovelier than the dogwood bloom.

I nourished them and watered well
For they were trees to prize and pride;
But oine into a sickness fell
And—I think—very glady died.
The other lived, but seems to me
To be a most unhappy tree.
Today I saw a lovely sight,
The distant hills were all aglow
With dogwood blossoms pink and white
Where nature wanted them to grow;
And standing there I seemed to see
My lonely, homesick dogwood tree.

'Tis hungry for the hills, thought I.
It's glad companions all are here.
It saw its lonely sister die
And it has sorrowed year by year
And even now when comes the spring
It has no heart for blossoming.

The World At A Glance

Is There Hope For Peace. Writer Recalls Days Of 1917. Hysteria Remained After War.

Central Press
New York Bureau
235 East 45th street
By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, May 31.—Before the writer lies a headline: "Peace Workers Are Dismissed From Columbia University . . . Activity in Anti-War Work Said To Be Cause of Officials' Action."

It is true that throughout America workers for peace—pacifists they are called—are in bad standing. In some states they can be prosecuted and sent to prison for handing out "seditious literature".

That seems to be true in the majority of countries. A "worker for peace" is looked upon as a person trying to scuttle the nation.

Yet, this Memorial Day, there were as many fervent prayers as ever for peace. And the ordinary people of all nations wish for peace with all their heart.

During the last war this writer was anything but a worker for peace. Perhaps his story would be a good Memorial Day story.

IN 1916

In 1916 this writer, young and with untamed knowledge, still was living in his home town in the interior of the United States

His family had been living there since the days of Abraham Lincoln, who had dwelled nearby. His grandmother, who had nursed soldiers suffering from smallpox during the Civil war, had spoken in dread of war. But she was dead now.

There was a war over in Europe now—and everybody had voted for Wilson again because he had promised to keep us out of it

But suddenly there were awful tales concerning Germany. And German submarines were beginning to sink American ships. (We were too far inland—1,000 miles from the sea—to realize the ships might have been carrying war munitions to the Allies.) Then the Germans sank the British liner Lusitania.

The writer's father pounded the table and said: "We can't permit that!"

Many father pounded the table.

Then a stirring phrase came into being: "We must save democracy!"

This writer, along with other young men, organized a military drill corps. We could hardly wait till evenings, when we could drill—and denounce the war Germany was waging to destroy democracy.

Then we conceived the idea of demanding that congress pass a draft act. Congress did.

Then, as more and more terrible news filtered in, we demanded that congress declare war against Germany.

We despised the men who opposed that. They ought to be run out of the country.

Some persons suspected of German leanings were run out of our part of the country

We prevailed—at least, we thought it was we who prevailed. (Subsequent disclosures disconcerted and shamed us. We had not heard much concerning propaganda. Besides, we all were with President Wilson to a man.)

NEVER RETURNED

Of that small drill corps—50 or 60—there were to be nine who never would return. The majority died in camp on this side from influenza or some other disease. They had been the splendid-looking, strong fellows.

This writer was not so strong. If disease was to have taken anybody, it should have taken him.

He enlisted. At camp, he was rejected, was informed he would not live long.

He was ill for a while—but, as this column bears witness, he did not die. Only the stalwart, strong fellows died.

This writer did not give up trying to get into the war. He spent his last penny to achieve his desire. He became a military stores inspector in a war factory building tractors.

Maybe fate, knowing he would become a newspaper man, contrived to put him there. For there (and elsewhere) he learned that the profits of war go to those who stay home.

FOLLOWING THE WAR

Even when the war had ended, the hysteria of war remained.

Persons still were being sent to prison for saying the United States ought not to have entered the war.

We young men still were certain that "democracy" could be imposed upon Germany.

In our town, war veterans descended upon a duly elected official and forced him, a German-born, to resign because he had appointed his son, a brilliant young American, to some office.

Today the son, duly elected by the people, holds a far higher office. And the leaders of that righteous mob? One of them came up to this writer several years ago and remarked:

"It was terribly wrong. If we could only live over that period and the war years!"

LEARNING

As the years passed, this writer's knowledge broadened, his reasoning became less emotional.

A greater understanding of the German situation, of Europe, of ourselves, of nationalisms, of propaganda, of world cliques caused the question to arise: "Why did we young fellows demand war? Why did the United States ever get into a European war? What came over us?"

To this day, there has been no real exposition of that hysterical period in our national life, nor the elements back of it. We still mumble our Memorial Day pieces, but we make no effort to get at the truth back of those many graves.

Mere disarmament will not effect a cure. With nationalistic psychology as it is, the nation that disarmed would be overrun by some mightier nation—perhaps using the very phrase we used, "To save democracy."

The real disarmament would be to tell the truth concerning trade wars, land grabbings, political desires.

Even that would not be enough. Nor would the estoppage of war profiteering. The common people of the world would have to be introduced to one another. They would have to learn to know each other. They would have to learn that they have common interests.

That seemed an Utopian dream.

Yet, in America, many races dwell together, and become one.

Today's Yesterdays—May 31, 1793.—The "Reign of Terror" began in the French Revolution, as 35-year-old Maximilian Robespierre and the Jacobins seized power and proscribed the Girondists.

More than 2,600 persons were ordered guillotined by Robespierre, who once had resigned a post as prosecutor rather than cause a man to be hanged! Eventually Robespierre's own head was dropped into the basket by the blades of the "Iron Widow"!

May 31, 1790—Congress completed enactment of the first copyright law of the United States, covering books, maps and charts.

No protection was granted on plays, musical compositions or works of art! The omission that was not corrected for many years.

Writing Wrongs—You may believe—That government-sponsored public works construction for the purpose of relieving unemployment is a modern idea.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

A DEFINITION OF BAPTISM

A little boy whose parents were Episcopalians (the definition, be it remembered, of an Episcopalian, which definition was given by a good Methodist, was "a church people who did not meddle in politics or religion") was duly baptised in an Episcopal church.

Time went on. The parents did not attend church very regularly. Four years elapsed and the little boy had not been, since his baptism, inside the Church doors.

The parents and the little boy out driving in their automobile one day, drove by the Church where the boy had been baptised and the mother, turning to the little boy, said, "Do you know what place this is?"

"Yes," said the bright urchin, "that was where I got all washed up."

Americanism: Calling it a government by the people; making it a government by the few thousand who send telegrams to scare congressmen.

STAMP NEWS FROM EVERYWHERE

BY JOHNRAE EARL, SEC. NEW CASTLE STAMP CLUB.

The ceremonies attending the first printing of the California Pacific International Exposition stamp which was placed on sale last Friday, took place in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing at 11 a. m., May 22. As soon as the new stamp is placed on sale at our local post office, I will let you know.

Numerous errors and plate varieties have been discovered in the new Connecticut Tercentenary stamp. These varieties are, however, too intricate to endeavor to explain by writing. Therefore I would advise you to watch all of your stamps of this issue for something unusual.

DESCRIPTION OF U. S. STAMPS

The Post Office Department has revised their booklet called "A Description of United States Postage Stamps." For your information I'll mention what the booklet contains.

It lists and describes all stamps issued by the government from July 1, 1847, through December 31, 1934. Although this pamphlet cannot be used as a catalogue, for it does not list the different ways each stamp was issued, it does give a quantity of information about subjects, color, first day of issue and in many cases the number of stamps issued.

The printing and assembling has just been finished and they went on sale May 20. This information will enable you to get your copy of this booklet before the grand rush to secure them. The cost of one of these booklets is 10c postpaid and orders are to be sent to the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C.

On June 8, 1872, congress authorized the penny post card. On June 9, 1690, that the first post route from Boston, Mass., to Providence, R. I., was established. July 1, 1847, marks the first day postage stamps were placed on sale.

REASONS FOR COLLECTING

"Philately" or "stamp collecting" has often been referred to as the king of hobbies. Of course, photographers, gardeners, hunters, fishers and others will probably disagree with this statement. Nevertheless, the stamp collecting can be one of the most interesting and educational of all hobbies.

It might be well to inquire as to exactly what can be considered as a hobby. To my way of thinking, a hobby should provide a fascinating manner in which to spend a person's idle moments. If a person arrives home from work or school and is tired, discouraged, and generally fagged out, there is no better way in which to spend an evening of relaxation than sorting stamps and mounting them in a collection. Before a person realizes it, the evening has gone and all the worries and vexatious problems of the day have been forgotten.

I read a rather interesting article the other day to the effect that a person usually rides his hobby until the hobby becomes too expensive and starts riding him. This can be true of stamp collecting, but it is not necessarily true. There are many branches of stamp collecting that can be pursued without a great deal of expense to the collector.

HINTS FOR YOUNG COLLECTORS

Of course, it is only natural that stamp collectors in this country desire to secure as large a representative collection of United States stamps as possible. For a beginner, it is advisable to buy as large a collection of different U. S. stamps as his purse will permit at the start. Collections are available that include from twenty-five different up to eight hundred different. Buying collections complete is usually the cheapest method of buying stamps. However, specializing in United States stamps exclusively soon becomes too expensive for most of us. There are only a few hundred different United States stamps available for the average collector until the prices become exorbitant. When this time comes there are two courses of action available to the collector. He either loses interest in his collection, or he starts collecting stamps from other countries or United States precancels. Personally I believe that the collection of foreign stamps is the most interesting branch of philately.

There is one thing to remember at all times, which is something that a great number of collectors overlook, and that is that stamp collecting is essentially a hobby and not a business proposition. It amply repays its devotees in happy hours spent on their collections and in associations with other collectors, but seldom does it make any return on the investment from a purely financial viewpoint.

In future articles, I will attempt to point out how a stamp collector can continue with his collection at small expense, and cover several types of collections that I have known that other persons built up. Some of these collections are quite fascinating. There is a lot of romance connected with stamps if we but know the stories with which they are connected.

NEW BELGIUM STAMP

A print of an early Belgium mail coach, now the property of the Postal Museum, Belgium, is to be used as the main design of the forthcoming Brussels Exposition stamps.

Just 16 more days until the Farley Folies will be removed from the agency list at Washington. You can rest assured that there will be no more sales of these stamps after that date, because Mr. Farley is all business when it comes to sales of stamps, and June 15 is the day that they will be removed and then prices will undoubtedly skyrocket.

The New Castle Stamp club will meet next Friday evening at 8 o'clock. As far as is known an out of town speaker will be present as a guest of the club.

SEVERAL MINOR AUTO ACCIDENTS REPORTED

Police yesterday received reports of auto accidents which resulted in small damage to automobiles.

J. R. Bean, 228 Euclid avenue, reported a car with Pennsylvania license 02058 hit his auto at Mill and Washington streets at 8:45 p. m., May 29.

A. M. Eppinger, R. F. D. 1, Volant, reported he had his car parked May 29 in Croton avenue near Washington street and it was struck by a car, the license number of which he did not obtain.

BARITONE REACHES GOAL OF AMBITION

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 31—The goal for which every singer strives—a career with the Metropolitan Opera Company—has been achieved by Julius Huehn, 27-year-old Pittsburgh baritone.

Huehn, who turned to music while studying engineering, his father's profession, at Carnegie Tech, has been selected as one of six American singers who will make their debuts with the Metropolitan in New York next season.

The youthful singer was chosen for the "Met" by Edward Johnson, new manager of the company.

INVISABLE PANTIES MAY BE ADVERTISED

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, May 29—The world can now have its invisible panties, thanks to the desicion of the supreme court on the unconstitutionality of the NRA.

The decision came just in time for the invisilette Corporation which was engaged in a bitter controversy with code authorities over the question of demonstrating invisible panties.

"It saved our life" declared Mrs. R. S. McCracken today. "Now we can demonstrate our product. The NRA told us we couldn't have demonstrators because if the panties were invisible, the customers would not be able to see them and our advertising was misleading."

THE ANGRY ELEPHANT
(International News Service)

MADRAS—After killing a woodcutter, a rogue elephant, disappointed at the victim's companion, returned and tore the dead body limb from limb and battered it beyond recognition. The jungle tracts of Malabar are infested by rogue elephants who often attack unwary pedestrians and workmen on estates in these areas. Even motor vehicles plying between Calicut and far-off places in the interior are attacked by these animals.

Man Given Up For Dead Arrives For Visit To Relatives

ANTHONY SCRIM SURPRISES FRIENDS

Given up for dead by his family years ago, Anthony Scrim, a former New Castle citizen, surprised and delighted his relatives and friends by arriving in New Castle for the Memorial Day holiday. Amazement was the first reaction of his family, followed by delight at seeing him once again.

Back in 1908 Mr. Scrim, then a young man, disappeared. Search was made for him but after months of fruitless endeavor the search was abandoned. Some years later his mother died and the estate was settled on the basis that Anthony was dead.

He has had a Horatio Alger like experience since leaving New Castle. When he left he went to Oklahoma City where he got a job. In 1916 he affiliated himself with the Ford Motor company, rising to the superintendency of the plant there.

About a year ago he was transferred to the Buffalo, N. Y., plant as superintendent and decided a few days ago to come back to New Castle and visit his relatives.

He has a brother and two sisters here, all of which were small when he left. His sisters are Mrs. Vitus Conti and Mrs. Pasquale Tempesto. His brother is Joseph Scrim, a well known baseball player in independent circles a few years ago.

Mr. Scrim will stay in New Castle a few days before returning to Buffalo.

SECOND NOTE FROM KIDNAPERS SENT TO FAMILY

they have "followed the rules," and they "care about them $200,000 worth" as evidence in their cryptic "Percy Minnie" noted which said "we are ready."

H. M. Balcom, a close friend whom the Weyerhaeusers had suggested as an intermediary in ransom negotiations, positively stated the ransom had not yet been paid nor has further contact been established with the abductors.

Guard Second Note

Balcom issued this statement following a report that a second ransom note had been received by the parents.

Contents of the missive, according to the report, were being carefully guarded—and this was assigned as the reason for Balcom's statement no further contact had been received.

It was reported that the purported second ransom note contained instructions of utmost secrecy and that even federal officials had not seen the missive. Balcom, however, flatly declared he had no knowledge of the second note.

According to the report which was gaining wide circulation, the abductors in their second note, ruled out Balcom and F. Rodman Titcomb, uncle of the child and an executive of the Weyerhaeuser timber interests, as intermediaries.

A demand was made that a designated member of the underworld serve as the "go-between," according to the report.

Signature Of Boy

It also was stated that the signature of the little kidnap victim was scrawled on the envelope of the second note.

The second note, it also was unofficially stated, instructed the Weyerhaeusers to employ a new method of communication.

In the original ransom note, received last Friday night, several hours after the curly haired boy disappeared from the Lowell public school while enroute home at noon for lunch. The kidnapers instructed the Weyerhaeusers to insert "ads" in a Seattle newspaper.

This was done by the parents. Their third and last note appearing in Tuesday morning's paper and reading "We are ready—Percy Minnie."

The second "week's time" element comes from the United States government.

G-Men Enter Case

Today the G-men entered the case officially for the first time.

Under a law recently passed by congress, kidnaping becomes a federal offense after the victim has been held seven days. The government assumes that the victim has been transported out of the state after a week's time, thus enabling the G-men to investigate. However, the Department of Justice agents have been on the scene since a few hours after the crime.

From Olympia, the state capital, came a statement that gave a ray of sunshine to the Weyerhaeusers. It was from William Cole, chief of the state patrol.

"The child is safe; he'll be returned to his parents unharmed," the chief said, veiling his source of information.

Evidence continued to pile up indicating that the Alvin Karpis mob perpetrated the crime.

GANG SOUGHT IN LUER KIDNAPING NOW IN CUSTODY

at Dallas, Tex. Henderson was taken by federal agents at Joplin, Mo., Tuesday.

Holland was being held here in the Jackson county jail today pending action by Illinois authorities in connection with the Luer kidnaping. Gilmore, Henderson, Heddy and his wife were being held in Oklahoma City where they were taken yesterday after the roundup.

According to federal agents, Heddy, Holland and Gilmore robbed two banks in Okeman, Okla., on Christmas Eve of more than $25,000.

Swooping into the town in an automobile, Gilmore held up the First National Bank single-handed. Holland and Gilmore meantime robbed the Okeman National Bank.

Hunted Two Years

Alton, Ill., May 31.—Walter (Irish) O'Malley, whose capture by Department of Justice agents, was announced today, has been hunted for nearly two years as a ringleader of the gang which kidnaped August Luer, elderly Alton banker and held him prisoner in an underground cave for 123 hours.

Luer was "snatched" from his palatial home here the night of July 10, 1933, as he sat listening to the radio.

A young woman and a male companion gained entrance to the Luer home when the banker's wife gave permission to the young woman to use the phone. A second man appeared and Luer was rushed into a waiting automobile. The elderly Mrs. Luer was knocked down by one of the men, her head hitting the stone mantel piece in the Luer parlor.

Four men and a woman, convicted by a circuit jury at Edwardsville of complicity in the kidnaping, are serving prison terms in the Southern Illinois penitentiary at Chester.

Members of the kidnap gang already in prison are Mrs. Lillian Chessen, serving a life term; Percy Michael Fitzgerald, also sentenced for life; Mike Musiala, who was given twenty years; Christ Nicola Gitcho, sentenced to five years, and Charles Chessen, husband of Mrs. Chessen, who also received five years.

Another woman, Mrs. Grace Chase, is still being sought in connection with the crime.

U. S. COP IN LINE FOR HIGH POST IN ETHIOPIAN ARMY

(International News Service)

YOUNGSTOWN, O.—A Youngstown policeman, holder of a half dozen medals for service in the United States Army may play an important role in the threatening Ethiopian-Italian struggle.

He is Earl Spencer, who reports he has been offered a position as military instructor to the forces of Emperor Haile Selassie.

Spencer said the "King of Kings" wants him to establish a military academy and to revamp the Ethiopian police system. A letter from the Ethiopian minister at Washington offered him the position, Spencer said.

He has not decided whether to accept the Ethiopian offer.

Wall Street wonders why people continue to ignore it. Brethren it takes time to grow a new shirt.

First Textile Strike Results From NRA Death

Textile Labor Board Is Informed Of Difficulties In Monroe, Ga.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 31.—First strikes in the textile industry as the result of the Supreme Court's death blow to the NRA were reported to the capital today.

Discharge of union local officials, slashing of wages and the increase of hours above former code provisions were given as the reasons for the labor disputes.

Discharge of union organizers by the Walton Manufacturing Co., Monroe, Ga., precipitated a 100 per cent strike of 440 employes, the textile labor board was informed. At Lincolnton, N. C., mills increased hours from 40 to 50 per week and reduced wages to a $15 maximum.

The United Textile Workers headquarters also said their representative at Providence, R. I., had reported New England mills had increased hours from 40 to 48 per week.

In upper Pennsylvania the textile headquarters learned silk and garment manufacturers were slashing wages with the result that the leaders of both unions were cooperating for the purpose of calling a general strike.

SEEK TO FORM FRENCH CABINET IN GOLD CRISIS

time since the crisis developed that the authorities deemed it necessary to call out troops.

Seek To Get Spectators

Police made desperate attempts to round up spectators and check the attack on the franc. They staged raids on a wide scale in numerous Paris banks and homes of private individuals suspected of speculating.

Ten police commissars and eight examining magistrates, accompanied by experts of the ministry of finance, armed with John Doe search warrants made up raiding parties which swooped down upon suspected persons without warning. In most cases they acted upon information supplied by the financial section of the judiciary police department. In others they raided on information in telegrams seized at the post offices this morning.

The spotlight of publicity and rising national indignation against those responsible for the assault on the nation's gold holdings diminished the number of small depositors demanding coin and bullion at the bank. Comparatively few were willing to run the gauntlet of news photographers covering the "gold rush" but other means were obviously being found to withdraw bullion.

This correspondent saw heaps of gold ingots being loaded onto trucks in the courtyards of the banks and all indications pointed to no diminution in the aggregate withdrawals.

Summons Tannery

President Lebrun summoned Jean Tannery, governor of the bank of France, to the Elysee palace to discuss the situation. It was understood the bank's supplies of pounds and dollars was exhausted, and officials telephoned to London for aid.

The bourse was opened at 12:30 p. m. for regular business after remaining shut all morning.

Meanwhile, Bouisson negotiated with senate and chamber leaders in his efforts to form a ministry. It was understood he wishes to form a left coalition to include the socialists with support of communists, who for the first time in France's history have been called into cabinet-forming consultation.

Edouard Herriot, radical socialist leader, expressed willingness to back up a radical government provided it enforces a purely radical program.

One of Bouisson's conditions on tentatively accepting the premiership was a pledge from the radical socialists to vote him full powers and that Herriot collaborate personally. Herriot then indicated his willingness to support the government but he rejected a cabinet portfolio.

Among the financial institutions searched by police during the day were the Franco-Chinese bank and the brokerage house of Tumin et Cie.

In France, prior to Pasteur's time, the average mortality from anthrax was 10 per cent in sheep and five per cent in cattle. Between 1882 and 1893 2,000,000 sheep and 500,000 cattle were inoculated against this disease by a method discovered by Pasteur. The mortality fell to 0.94 per cent in sheep and 0.34 per cent in cattle.

STOWED HIS WAY AROUND THE WORLD

(International News Service)

VANCOUVER, B. C.—The world's champion stow-away is back after traveling 40,000 miles around the world without expense. He is Eugene La Framme, 18 year old French Canadian.

Two years he resolved to see the world. He left here and walked to Mexico, doing odd jobs on the way. After Mexico, he walked to New York and then on to Halifax. There he stowed away on a ship and got to London. He walked all over England and Scotland and then became homesick for Canada.

The Pacific Grove was sailing from Glasgow to Vancouver. La-Framme went to Glasgow and hid himself in the hold. He was discovered when the ship was 300 miles out at sea and was enlisted as a deck hand. He proved such a willing worker, however, that officials of the line are not going to prosecute him.

The poor girl has one advantage. When she is led to the altar, she knows the man is doing it because he wants her.

MODIFIES SENTENCE GIVEN BAIRDO

PITTSBURGH, May 31.—Sentenced originally to pay a $500 fine and spend six month in jail for participating in the operation of an illicit distillery in Neshannock township, Lawrence county last December, Anthony Bairdo Wednesday was given a modified sentence of a $5 fine and no costs by Federal Judge R. M. Gibson.

Bairdo, indicted with several other defendants on five counts charging violation of internal revenue laws, pleaded guilty May 20 and was sentenced Wednesday.

It was most refreshing to witness the splendid co-operation that prevailed between the fire and police departments when a blaze was discovered on the roof of the New Castle hospital. Both departments worked untiringly to stamp out the fire before smoke could reach the floors on which patients were confined. They succeeded. Citizens, too, who gave their services deserve praise.

Although the younger element and older people have been requested to not damage lawns in public parks here the practice continues, sometimes on the part of the younger element through play. Wednesday night some children tramped over the public square lawn and had to be chased away by police.

C. C. Coulthard, manager of Cascade Park, has reported that on recent days children not over six years of age have roamed the park almost until midnight. To curb this, he has made a ruling that all children not over six years old who are unaccompanied, must leave the park by six p. m. Ten year old children, he said, when not accompanied, can stay until 9:30 p. m.

Boost School Tax At Grove City

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, May 31.—Forced to make a dractic increase in the school tax levy by failure of local citizens to pay the $5 per capita tax, the board of education announced a boost in the millage for next year to 19, an increase of four mills. The $5 per capita tax is retained, and the board plans an intensive effort to collect it.

At the same time, the board voted to meet a steadily mounting deficit with a $45,000 funding bond issue. The issue, which will bear interest at 2½ per cent, is for the purpose of funding the delinquent taxes, of which 50 per cent is protected by liens, with the balance in unpaid per capita tax.

The board is still considering candidates for the position of special collector of delinquent taxes. Several hundred local citizens have failed to pay the $5 assessment.

LEGISLATURE SEEKS TO MEET NEEDS OF BUDGET

Two Cent Gas Tax Raise Seen

Use Of Motor Funds For Other State Purposes Also Considered

FUND REPAYMENTS WILL BE DELAYED

By G. EVERETT DOYING
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, May 31—A two cent gasoline tax boost limited to one year and a "blank check" authorizing the treasury to tap the motor fund for as much cash as needed to meet current bills may become the legislature's solution to the state's budget problem.

Sentiment in favor of this plan, which avoids the onus of passing additional new taxes, appeared today to be growing although no further action was expected this week to settle definitely how to overcome the $56,200,000 cash shortage in the budget for the next 12 months.

Delay Repayments

Adoption of this procedure involves shutting off until next year the repayment of $23,000,000 borrowed from special funds for relief and old age and blind pensions which is scheduled by December 31, 1935.

Revenue from the relief tax compromise program available to the general fund next year will be ample to repay the loans, plus whatever addition would be taken from the motor fund under the plan to meet extraordinary expenses this year. These extraordinary expenditures include $10,600,000 in unpaid appropriations during the biennium ending today and old age and blind pensions and debt service for the next year.

Further Conferences

Further conferences to iron out the problem of keeping the state on a cash basis through the first few lean income months of the biennium were called off when figures showing monthly income and outgo could not be prepared immediately. A week end crystallization of sentiment was expected to rush the matter to a head next week and bring early solution during the closing hours of the elongated biennial session.

The two cent gas tax increase suggestion, its backers assert, in reality is more a bookkeeping change than anything else. The relief-tax program carries a one-cent gasoline tax for two years to raise $22,000,,000 because of the pressing need for funds immediately, the proposal was advanced to make the gasoline levy increase two cents for one year.

This would divert $11,000,000 into the treasury during the next 12 months for general expenses without upsetting the relief program. The $11,000,000 wiuld provide almost half the amount needed to keep the state on a cash basis, if repayment of special fund borrowings is left to 1936. The rest of the needed money, it was argued, could be taken from the motor fund and paid back in 1936 when budget income will exceed expenditures.

Good Wages, Short Hours
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

TODAY THE California-Pacific Exposition, opening at San Diego gives to millions a reason for making now that trip to the Pacific Coast that they have always planned. They can go by air, rail, motor bus, automobile, or by boat through the Panama Canal.

Wise travelers, intent on seeing their country, will go by one route and come back by another. Go first to San Diego, at the southern end of California, near the Mexican border, stay until you have seen the beautiful exposition thoroughly and made interesting expeditions into old Mexico.

FROM SAN DIEGO, wide perfect roads lead more than a thousand miles north along the great Pacific.

Unless you have traveled that road, all along the nation's Pacific Ocean front, from San Diego all the way north through Los Angeles, San Francisco, on to Seattle, and beyond to visit our Canadian friends in Vancouver, you do not really know this country.

Make up your mind to see California and the San Diego Exposition this year, and remember that in California the summer season is better than the winter season.

ON DECORATION DAY, yesterday, flowers were put on thousands of graves, and old wounds reopened in the hearts of many mothers.

To avoid decorating new graves, this country should keep out of foreign wars that do not concern it, and make itself so powerful for defense that other countries will keep away. It is a simple prescription —don't quarrel with others, make them afraid to quarrel with you.

ALICE'S PUZZLED Dormouse, at the Mad-Hatter's tea party, could not understand his watch that would not keep time, although the Dormouse did everything. He dipped the watch in his tea, put butter in the works, "it was the best butter," said he, "but nothing seemed to please it."

The stock exchange is something like that watch, nothing seems to please it, either.

At first, stockbroker gentlemen whose "Kabba Stone," is the stock ticker, began a weird dance of joy when they heard that NRA was dead, and pushed up stock prices.

Then, suddenly, as the day wore on one broker asked another, and every broker asked every other broker, "How do we know what is coming NEXT?" And then they put the prices down.

BUSINESS IS puzzled, not feeling quite sure what really did die when the Supreme Court chopped off the head of the Blue Eagle.

Industrialists and business men wonder whether they may still agree on "trade practice specifications by mutual consent." That would have been called "conspiracy in restraint of trade" in days before the New Deal.

It is to be hoped that lower wages and longer hours will NOT be one of the by-products of the Supreme Court decision.

The American business man can and should build up prosperity for himself and the country by competition of brains, not by underpaying or over-working human beings.

IT IS ANNOUNCED, but not by Mr. Green, head of the American Federation of Labor, that a great strike will be called, in protest against the Supreme Court's NRA decision. Mr. Green is too wise to permit, if he can prevent it, a strike against the United States Supreme Court. He may, should, and probably will take a wiser course and work as organized labor has worked, successfully for generations, to improve working conditions.

Some union men know that wages, hours and other conditions improved in the old way, are more durable than increased pay, based on political fiat. It is necessary for some one to provide as well as for some one to take it.

THIS COUNTRY began paying for the big war and foolishness that followed, in 1929. The French apparently are only beginning to pay their war bill, and realize that such a bill exists.

Great stocks of gold, imported from the United States and other countries in tight little barrels, are now going out of France in many directions, even by airplane. In one day, last Monday, France lost $76,000,000 worth of gold. The Bank of France has raised its discount rate three times in six days, a bad financial danger signal.

The queer thing is that many millions in gold are coming into this country, at a time when we are off of the gold basis and gold is considered too sacred a substance for any American citizen to possess.

ONE BRANCH of the Standard Oil Company, the New Jersey branch, managed by Mr. Teagle, notifies 6,000 of a bonus of five per cent added to their pay envelopes to meet the higher cost of living.

Tidewater Oil also declared a five per cent raise in wages for all earning $2,500 a year or less. The Standard Oil increase applies to all earnings $5,000 or less. Total increases will amount to more than five million dollars a year.

(International News Service)

On Court House Hill

Prothonotary R. M. Campbell has issued an argument list for the June term of quarter sessions court. There are 24 cases for argument, 19 in common pleas and five in orphans' court.

Petition for a pluries subpoena has been granted in the divorce case of Helen Kerr Coulter against William W. Coulter.

In the case of the commonwealth against Clarence G. Williams, charged with larceny, Judge James A. Chambers has handed down an opinion in which a new trial is refused. Williams was convicted in connection with the disappearance of $8 belonging to Miss Ramsberg at the Ellwood City nurses' home. Evidence in the case was largely circumstantial. Williams denied the charge, claiming that he had been at the hospital looking for work.

In the divorce case of Perrine against Perrine, a petition for alimony and counsel fees has been presented to court. A rule was granted, returnable on the first Monday of June.

In the case of Rosie Vitale, also known as Mrs. Pete Vitale, against the State Auto Sales company and Elrick H. Scarazzo, in which a rule to show cause why a judgment of non-pros should not be granted, Judge James a Chambers has handed down an opinion in which the rule is discharged. The case was one growing out of an action in replevin.

Margaret Ellis Eakin has filed a suit against J. Edgar Ellis and Mary E. Floyd, executors of the will of James E. Ellis, late of Hickory township, in which she claims there is due her from the estate $13,656.39. The amount is alleged to be due on a number of notes for money loaned.

In the estate of the late Harry Edelstein in which Samuel Edelstein took out letters testamentary, a petition has been presented in court setting forth that no account has been filed, and asking for a citation on the executor to file an account. A rule was granted, returnable on the first Monday of July. The petition sets forth that under the will Beatrice E. Lebby was one of the legatees, and that she sold and transferred to the Williams-Cleveland company her entire distributive share. The petition is by W. D. Corbett, Walter A. Bell and W. M. Crandall, trustees for the Williams-Cleveland company.

County commissioners are interested in a bill prepared by Representative W. J. Eroe of New Castle which, if passed by the legislature, would eliminate the payment of damages by the county in cases where property is taken or damaged by the state highway department. The payment of damages has been a heavy expense on Lawrence county and it is felt that when roads are taken over by the state, the county should be free from this expense.

Owing to a mixup in parole papers the name of Joseph Fulwood was given in Tuesday's News as having been sentenced for violation of his parole, when it should have been Chester Fulwood, who was the one sentenced. On the list of prisoners to be sentenced, which was made up by the district attorney, there appeared the names "Fullwood and Haas" without their first names. Both the Fullwood boys had been paroled at the December term of court, but it was Chester Fulwood who had violated his parole, and who was to have been sentenced. In getting the papers to take up to the court room the clerk took the papers of Joseph, whereas it was Chester who received the sentence and is now in jail, while Joseph is free. The sentence as given in The News was taken from the papers in court, and the mistake in name was not discovered until later.

Improvement of the balance of the West Pittsburg road will necessitate the removal of a number of telephone and electric poles, which are now said to be in the right of way of the improvement.

Chiselers On Relief Now Face Jail Sentences

Governor Earle Signs Law Punishing Those Who Give False Information

TAKES ACTION ON OTHER MEASURES

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 31.—Gov. George H. Earle today signed the law bill aimed at relief "chiselers" which requires all persons receiving or applying for aid to furnish affidavits that they are financially dependent.

A six-month jail term and a $500 fine are provided as the penalty for false affidavits by "chiseler." The bill, sponsored by Sen. Glen R. Law, Mercer, affects all the 1,700,000 persons on the relief lists by requiring them to swear to an affidivit they are eligible to the relief they are receiving. Persons asking for relief in the future also will be required to take the oath.

Signing of the law bill was the second attack on relief "chiselers" enacted during the current session of the legislature. Previously, Governor Earle signed the bill requiring banks to disclose the savings of persons on relief lists.

Signs Other Bills.

Twelve other bills also were signed by Governor Earle and three more were vetoed.

The vetos were the Weiss bill requiring the supreme court to hear appeals without printed briefs and record of trials in cases where the appellant had not sufficient funds to pay the cost of printing. The Hirsch bill authorizing the rehabilitation bureau to furnish artificial limbs to children over 10 years of age, and the John Brown bill authorizing the leasing of gas and oil lands on the Pennsylvania training school grounds at Morganza.

Of the Weiss bill, Governor Earle said the high courts already waive the rule requiring printed briefs when necessary. He said the department of health already has a service for providing artificial limbs to children under 16 years of age, making the Hirsch bill unnecessary. The executive said that while the leasing of Morganza oil and gas lands "undoubtedly would bring additional revenue into the coffers of the commonwealth," it probably would result in contamination of the institution's water supply and would affect the health of inmates.

To Study Legislation

The governor signed the Mallery bill creating a joint legislative commission of five senators and five representatives to make a two-year study of local government and recommend consolidations and more efficient operation to the 1937 legislature. The commission members have not been named. The bill gives the commission $10,000 to conduct its survey.

Other bills signed were:

Hart, authorizing the state, when given approval of the federal government, to organize two battalions of Pennsylvania National Guard Infantry for negroes to be stationed in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. An appropriation of $100,000 is carried in the act.

Atkins, requiring persons convicted in statutory cases to pay funeral expenses of an illegitimate child.

Zappala, requiring the Department of Forests and Waters to extend fire protection to private property through which the state maintains forest protection roads and fire lanes.

Tumelty, authorizing a deficiency appropriation of $5,000 for the costs of educating orphans of veterans.

Burke, authorizing Philadelphia to lay out, widen, extend or relocate highways and streets connecting interstate bridges or tunnels.

Reising, providing for payment of subsidies for condemned farm animals except those dead or dying when condemned.

Spangler, making the penalty for killing frogs, turtles or tadpoles out of season $10 for each offense instead of $10 for each one killed.

John Smith, authorizing the state to accept 4½ acres of land near Whitehill on the site of the proposed Cumberland valley institution for mental defectives.

Decker, making it illegal for persons to interfere with dams, deflectors and retards on rivers in the state.

Schwab, extending the authority of the department of forests and waters over private lands adjoining Bucktail State park.

Harris, providing for a recount and a district attorney's office investigation when more votes are cast in an election district than there are registered voters.

Seek To Rescue AAA From Fate That Befell NRA

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 31.—In a desperate move to rescue the AAA from the fate that overtook the NRA, administration leaders today were prepared to repeal all agricultural licensing features of the New Deal, while authorizing a simple federal regulation of the production and marketing of the nation's food supply.

This decision has been reached by congressional leaders after conferences with Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, AAA Administrator Chester C. Davis and government attorneys. The new AAA bill now pending in House and Senate therefore will be stripped of all sections proposing to give Wallace power to license producers or dealers in foodstuffs.

The conferees failed to reach a decision on continuation of processing taxes, the very backbone of the AAA relief program in the past. The AAA has collected more than $700,000,000 in processing taxes, most of which has been handed over to farmers in the form of benefit payments.

Wallace and his advisers have insisted the processing taxes were constitutional, because in delegating the power to him to impose the taxes, Congress laid down a specific yardstick—namely that he must exercise the power to achieve a parity between farm and other prices.

The constitutionalists on Capitol Hill hold a different view. They have argued with Wallace that Congress cannot delegate its taxing power to any individual, no matter what yardstick is handed along with the power. They contended only Congress itself can levy taxes and that it has turned that power over to Wallace—an unconstitutional delegation of the power.

If the processing tax power is denied Wallace it will wreck the AAA.

Ten Firemen Hurt At Blaze

New Kensington Has Serious Fire At Construction Company Plant

FALLING WALLS TRAP FIREMEN

(International News Service)

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., May 31. Ten firemen were recovering here today from smoke-suffocation, burns and other injuries suffered in battling flames that roared through the State Construction company plant with a conservatively estimated damage of $150,000.

Trapped by crumbling walls, four of the injured were still in hospitals, the others under treatment in their homes.

Splashing gasoline from heat-exploded truck tanks so intensified the rapid progress of the conflagration that strength of firemen from four local and Arnold companies was taxed to the limit in the valiant fight to save the structure from complete destruction, but only the office building and smouldering ruins of the main plant remained today.

Watchman Frank Loach discovered the blaze in the machine shop as he made his rounds. He turned in an alarm, another company watchman, his wife and five children narrowly escaped injuries while fleeing as the blaze spread to their frame home, nearby.

Company officials said the damage was conservative as thousands of dollars worth of machinery and supplies were destroyed.

Daughters Of Union Veterans Here Have Fourteenth Birthday Dinner

Eliza Wianas McBride Tent No. 20, Daughters of Union Veterans, of the Civil War, observed the 14th anniversary of its organization by having a 6 o'clock dinner and program in the tent room in the city buildings, Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Maud Fisher and her commitee served a delicious menu at tables attractively arranged with flowers. The centerpiece was a large birthday cake with fourteen candles. At the close of the dinner an entertainment in charge of Mrs. Pearl Cook and Mrs. Josephine Hoover was enjoyed. It follows:

Introduction of past presidents. (The tent has had nine since it was organized, namely, Mrs. Jessie Crooks, Mrs. Margaret Book, Mrs. Rose Tripp, Mrs. Minnie Kaufman, Mrs. Rebecca McKissick, Mrs. Sara Fray, deceased, Mrs. Maud Fisher, Mrs. Lucy Pettitt and Mrs. Pearl Cook) Mrs. Mary Kurz, presiding president, was introduced and she, as well as those of the past presidents responded with a few well chosen words.

Mrs. Jessie Crooks, the first president of the tent, who has served the state of Pennsylvania as the Department President, told of the organization on May 31, 1921. Mrs. Mary Dodds, a past president of Tent No. 23, Sharon, who assisted in organizing Tent No. 20 was introduced and told of the Daughter's work.

An article describing the formation of the first Daughters of Union Veterans tent in Ohio 50 years ago, was read. It was on May 30, that a group of school girls banded together and, with the aid of Major William McKinley, who later became president of the United States and their fathers, who were Union Veterans of the Civil War , met to institute the D. U. V. which today has a membership of 70,000 representing every state in the Union and Alaska. The national headquarters is established at the Daughters of Union Veterans home in Washington, D. C. The article was read by Mrs. Laura McHugh.

Special guests and charter members were introduced. The singing of Blest Be the Tie That Binds closed the program. Guests were present from Sharon.

A business meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Mary Kurtz, at which plans were made for attending Memorial Day services. The organization attended the services and joined in the line of march yesterday.

Plans were made for a 500 and bingo party at the home of the president, Mrs. Mary Kurtz. The annual encampment of the G. A. R. will take place in Gettysburg the week of June 16 at which time the 23rd annual convention of the Daughters will convene. Mrs. Jessie Crooks the secretary, is taking reservations.

The next regular meeting will take place June 11 in the city building.

Our Day Of Worship

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

John 4:24—"God is a Spirit: and they that worship him must worship in spirit and truth."

(The International Uniform lesson on the above topic for June 2 is Genesis 2:3, 3; Exodus 20:8-11; Psalm 100; John 4:20-24, and Colossians 3:15-17, the Golden Text being John 4:24, "God is a Spirit: and they that worship him must worship in spirit and truth.")

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

WORSHIP IS an expression of reverence to which we are impelled by a realization of the worth-ship of God. God made man in his own image and according to his own likeness, giving man a spiritual nature which craves communion with its divine Author and Maker and is restless until it finds its rest in that communion which we call worship.

The Origin Of Sabbath

To assure the preservation and cultivation of this spiritual nature God instituted the Sabbath as a day of rest and worship: "And God blessed the seventh day and hallowed it: because that in it he rested from all his work which God had created and made."

Fifteen hundred years later when God gave the law through Moses he made the observance of this ancient institution a part of the righteousness he desired to cultivate through the instrumentality of that Mosaic Code of Law, by including the commandment, "Remember the Sabbath Day to keep it holy—the seventh day is a Sabbath unto the Lord thy God." This weekly reminder of God's creatorship of all things would preserve in man's soul a realization of his dependence upon God. It would give time for communion with God and thus restore through rest and worship the wasted physical and spiritual nature of man.

Thus from the very beginning, as Jesus said, "The Sabbath was made for man and not man for the Sabbath." It was not an added burden to be borne, but a means of recuperation of strength for the bearing of burdens.

Joyous Worship

Worship is a thing which cannot be forced by divine law, much less by human legislation It must be a spontaneous, joyous and free expression of inner emotions welling up and calling forth praise and adoration The Psalmist gave expression to this free and joyous characteristic of worship in the psalm: "Make a joyful noise unto the Lord, all ye lands, serve the Lord with gladness: come before his presence with singing"

Jesus Teaching On Worship

Our Lord has given us a concise and complete devotional guide in his discourse with the Samaritan woman at Jacob's well That worship is not restricted to specific places such as she sought to argue about: "Woman, believe me, the hour cometh when neither in this mountain, nor in Jerusalem, shall ye worship the Father . . . But the hour cometh, and now is, when the Father in spirit and in truth: for such doth the Father seek to be his worshipers God is a Spirit: and they that worship Him must worship in spirit and truth"

PARKED HIS GROCERIES IN WRONG AUTO

(International News Service)

SHARON, Pa., May 31.—Someone in Greenville owes a well-stocked Sunday dinner table to the integrity of Marvin Loutzenhiser, Sharon clerk of courts.

Returning to his machine after a business visit in Greenville, Loutzenhiser rubbed his eyes in amazement. It was his car all right, but the back of it was well filled with groceries. And he was sure he hadn't put them there.

After waiting two hours for the owner to claim the "eats," Loutzenhiser notified police and left them in Greenville with a brother who resides there.

On Monday evening about 25 relatives wended their way to the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Booher, on the old Pittsburgh road, surprise fashion in honor of the 57th birthday of Mr. Booher. Miss Edyce Booher and her sister, Miss Thelma, made a large birthday cake with pink and yellow candles which made an attractive centerpiece for the lunch where delicious dainties were served.

INDIANA FATHER TELLS HOW NEW LAXATIVE BREAD HELPED 11 YR. OLD GIRL

Russell Farthing Says Daughter Likes PRUN-O-WHEAT BREAD and Results Are Wonderful! No More Pills

"Our little eleven-year-old girl has been bothered with constipation for several years," writes Mr. Russell Farthing of Rushville, Indiana. "We have given her pills about three times a week as well as trying several other remedies in hopes of relieving her in a more natural way . . . but all failed! Finally, we began feeding her PRUN-O-WHEAT BREAD at every meal. She liked its taste and the results are wonderful. Have quit giving her pills entirely. The rest of the family also eat PRUN-O-WHEAT BREAD because they like its taste and its gentle laxative qualities."

This is but one of thousands of cases where people of all ages have been helped by PRUN-O-WHEAT. Fine grained and flavorful, it is both a delicious food . . . especially when toasted, and a gentle regulator to aid proper elimination. It would be a white bread except for the large amount of concentrated prune juice added . . . yet, which—strangely enough—doesn't give the bread a prune taste.

TRY 14-DAY TEST

Eat PRUN-O-WHEAT BREAD whenever you want a delicious bread that's different. But you at each meal, to enjoy its regu- must eat it regularly, a few slices lative laxative benefits. Try it for 14 days. You'll be amazed at the results. Ask your grocer for a loaf of PRUN-O-WHEAT Bread and start today.

PUTS MUSTARD ON BEAR, ASKS $5,000

(International News Service)

PARIS,—A fine young she-bear named Charlotte is the defendant in an unusual case now before the Paris courts.

Charlotte had an attack of bronchitis and a sore throat, and Mr. Courtin, a veterinary surgeon, was called in to treat her at the circus where she was appearing.

First he applied a poultice, then he set about painting her throat. Charlotte cracked down, and three of the surgeon's fingers, with the brush, disappeared down her throat.

The surgeon is now demanding about $5,000 as compensation. The management of the circus disclaims all responsibility, asserting that anyone rash enough to put a mustard poultice on the chest of a bear accept the responsibility of his act. Charlotte has recovered.

WHY WE MAKE THIS MOTOR FUEL

Better than you need

OUR FRIENDS occasionally ask us why we make ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH PLUS better than is necessary for ordinary driving. Here is what we tell them:

1. ATLANTIC'S policy for 70 years has been to make the finest products we know how, and offer them at the lowest possible prices. 2. We believe this is simply "good business." It creates a large sales volume, which in turn allows us to give better and still better values to our customers.

The Fuel with Many PLUS Qualities

Just take the case of the original ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH. When it was first introduced, this fuel created a sensation because it was so far in advance of its time. But ATLANTIC was not satisfied to rest on that achievement alone. We made improvement after improvement . . . anticipating the radical changes which were being made in automobile engines . . . and finally we added the word PLUS to the motor fuel's name to indicate its new PLUS qualities.

Today's ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH PLUS, for instance, has enough power to take you more than 200 miles an hour, when cars are built to go that fast and still stay on the ground. Its anti-knock rating exceeds the requirements of most cars on the road.

Yes, this fuel is better than you need . . . which is another way of saying that it gives you more for your money. Fill your tank today, and discover the full Power, Performance and Economy that the manufacturer built into your car.

No business can long endure without true service to its customers. We believe that ATLANTIC'S steady growth over 70 years reflects the extra quality which we constantly strive to put in our products. * * * We think of ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH PLUS as something more than "just gasoline." It must definitely be the best . . . so as to meet the emergencies of life, as well as to give dependable and inexpensive service in every-day use.

PLUS for warm-weather driving

Boy Scouts Will Have Parking Lot At Circus Saturday

Proceeds Received From Parking Privileges Will Purchase Uniforms For Needy

Through the courtesy of the Clark Coal company and the William Gasoline company on Grove street, an opportunity will be given to local Boy Scouts, unable to purchase uniforms because of needy circumstances, to earn money for this purpose.

The two above named companies have donated parking space on Grove street, just across the street from the circus grounds, which will be in charge of the Boy Scouts, and all revenues received from this will go into the treasury of the scouts for the purchase of uniforms.

The same privilege will be extended at future circuses, the owners of the lot state.

The idea of giving away five billion dollars scares our big men. You see, Europe isn't getting it this time.

Oriental Dinner Monday Evening

Plans Complete For Dinner At 6:30 P. M. Monday At Cathedral

Plans are completed for the Oriental dinner to take place Monday, June 3, at 6:30 p. m. in the Cathedral. The dinner will be for the benefit of St. John the Baptist Syrian Maronnite Roman Catholic church.

The affair promises to be a great success. Nearly every American has read the Arabian Nights or at least heard of the book and of Amir Haroun El Rashid, but they will be surprised to know that the food which is to be served on the coming occasion is exactly what the Amirs and kings had eaten for hundreds of years. The Syrians had borrowed their dishes from the Indian Maharajahs and now are presenting them to the New Castle public.

Most New Castle people have enjoyed Italian spaghetti and Chinese Chop Suey and now they will have Mirshay and Kibbee.

During the dinner there will be real Oriental music played by James Haddad and his orchestra, of Pittsburgh, and notable speakers including Dr. R. F. Galbreath, president of Westminster College, C. C. Green, superintendent of New Castle schools, and Rev. C. H. Heaton, pastor of the First Baptist church. Judges Chambers and Hildebrand, and Attorney Joseph Sheban, of Youngstown, O. The chairman will be Walter S. Reynolds.

Mrs. Samuel Abraham is chairman of arrangements for the dinner. Entertainers will wear Oriental costumes and promise musical entertainment long to be remembered.

Mrs. Anna Dannels, teacher in the first grade of the Herbert, Pa., schools for the past ten years, was given honor recently when the other members of the faculty of the school tendered her a dinner on the eve of her retirement from the teaching profession.

Mrs. Dannels is a daughter of Professor J. M. Watson, and a sister of Ralph E. Watson, and formerly resided at Fayette. Herbert is located near Uniontown, Pa.

The farewell party for Mrs. Dannels was a complete surprise, and she was presented with a handsome leather bound Bible.

12,000 People At Cascade Park

Approximately 12,000 persons visited Cascade park yesterday and according to C. C. Coulthard, superintendent, the concessionaires enjoyed a good day financially. He said the park contained more people during the night than during the afternoon. The fireworks furnished by B. J. Biondi, who operates Rainbow Terrace, pleased the patrons of the park, Coulthard stated.

PERSHING AMONG THOSE ON BURNING LINER

(International News Service)

LE HAVRE, France, May 31—A fire in mid-ocean, with the passengers rounded up ready to take to the boats if necessary, was the uncomfortable thrill experienced aboard the United States liner Manhattan, voyagers revealed when the ship berthed here recently.

General John J. Pershing, commander of the American expeditionary force in the World War, was among the passengers marshalled on deck.

Extolling the ship's officers and alarm system for spreading the warning rapidly but without causing any panic, passengers said that, although the fire apparently was small every precaution for their safety was taken while the blaze was quickly extinguished.

CHAIN TELEGRAM CRAZE HITS HERE

Somewhat slow to take up the chain letter craze, New Castle seems to be in the throes of it now, in the form of chain-telegrams. The craze broke here on Tuesday afternoon and by Thursday noon the rush had put three thousand dollars in the till of the telegraph company. Two extra operators and an extra clerk were requested by the manager of a local station.

Most of the chain telegrams are for two dollars each with a few at a dollar each.

Gretna, where they will participate in the annual maneuvers of the national guard during the next two weeks.

The equipment and horses of the troop were loaded Thursday afternoon and are now in camp at Mt. Gretna. The men will spend all night en route in the trucks and will be given a taste of real army training, as transportation by motor truck is a common one during war time with the troops in the field.

The men are scheduled to arrive in camp by 11 o'clock tomorrow morning, so no time will be lost on the way.

They will be quartered at Camp Edward L. King, Colebrook, Pa., which will be their address for the next two weeks.

The damage was done during the night for visitors were at the cemetery up until a late hour.

New System For Distributing To State CCC Camps

(International News Service)

HARRISBRG, May 31—Secretary of forests and waters Ralph M. Bashore today announced that within 10 days the system of distribution of materials and supplies for CCC camps in the state will be changed.

All except heavy equipment and supplies such as trucks, dynamite and like materials will be stored in a state warehouse at Hyner in Centre county and distributed by trucks. The Hyner warehouse will be packed with $25,000 worth of materials purchased through quantity buying to save money, Bashore said.

Treatment under such compulsory health insurance systems as are in operation in England and Germany is not so efficient and recoveries are not so rapid as in countries where there are no such systems, nor is the death rate lowered where these systems are functioning.

United States Fleet Leaves Hawaii Today

Report 165 Ships Steam Out Of Pearl Harbor Bound For San Diego, Cal.

(International News Service)

ABOARD U. S. S. PENNSYLVANIA, WITH U. S. FLEET AT SEA, May 31.—All 165 vessels of the United States fleet were at sea today, enroute from Pearl Harbor to San Diego, Cal., with the exception of a few training ships.

The U. S. S. Pennsylvania, flagship of Admiral Joseph M. Reeves, commanding the fleet, was the last to leave her dock in Pearl Harbor at dawn today. Outside the harbor a patrol of destroyers steamed at full speed, forming a screen to protect the battleships from "attack" by a flotilla of 50 submarines.

The effect of the heavy London fogs on health is quite disastrous. During one particularly thick and lasting fog the death rate rose from 16 to 19.4 and lung diseases increased 250 percent. Soft coal smoke is a chief ingredient of these fogs.

Celebrated Aerialist Finds Clowns Useful

The proof that a clown can be serious when his routine in the big top is over lies in the fact that one of the Hagenbeck-Wallace and Forepaugh-Sells Bros Circus buffoons makes himself useful in tying the slipper laces of an attractive aerialist.

This business of looking after the more important items in a circus day's busy program requires tact as well as ability, but Toby Tyler—one of half a hundred funny men with the great Hagenbeck-Wallace and Forepaugh-Sells Bros Circus—is so schooled in fine manners that his associates accuse him of studying for the diplomatic corps. At any rate, he seems to have captured the favor of a charming aerialist.

Clowns, aerialists, bareback riders, acrobats, trained wild animals and all the other ingredients that go to comprise a great circus come to New Castle, Saturday, June 1, when the big show exhibits afternoon and night.

Georgia's Licenses Causing Trouble

Claimed Motorists In This State Are Getting Them For Three Dollars

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 31.—Pennsylvania motorists who are sporting Georgia license plates, and there are quite a few of them, have incurred the displeasure of the State highway patrol.

The reason is that Georgia exacts a $3 annual registration fee from its motorists while Pennsylvania wants $10. But it isn't as simple as all that.

Here's what happens in many instances, to the annoyance of state officials. Thousands of drivers living in this state have written for and obtained Georgia tags for the $3 fee—at a minimum saving to them of $7—although maintaining their Pennsylvania residence.

Complete reciprocal agreements exists between this state and other states with regard to the privileges of visiting motorists. A driver with out-of-state plates may tour Pennsylvania as long as he desires provided his legal residence is actually in the state in which his automobile was registered.

Striking at what he termed "this mail order business" in license plates, Capt. Wilson C. Price, superintendent of the State highway patrol, has taken a hand in the situation and promises to break up the practice as it applies to this state.

"We are stopping all Georgia registered vehicles," Captain Price warned. "Unless the drivers have a bona fide registration in Georgia—that does not mean a hotel or a business place—we are tying up their vehicles until such a time as they are properly registered."

Thus the Pennsylvania driver who purchases a set of Georgia "economy" plates hereafter must invest an additional $10 for tags issued by this state. Captain Price estimated that at least 5,000 motorists using out-of-state licenses will be required to re-register here this year.

The highway patrol, he said, protested George's policy but the governor of that state, while expressing regret at the conflict asserted it would continue to sell as many license plates as possible because the revenue so derived was badly needed.

Balked at this turn, the highway patrol then asked the southern state to furnish it with a list of the names and addresses of motorists living in this state who purchased the cheaper tags so as to facilitate the investigation here. Georgia again refused, explaining that its registration setup was inadequate to comply with the request.

Sisters Thank Citizens For Aid Rendered

Letter To News Expresses Appreciation Of Splendid Spirit Of Cooperation

In a letter to The News today, the Sisters of St. Francis, who operate the New Castle hospital, express their appreciation for the splendid spirit of co-operation displayed by the authorities and the citizens during the recent fire at the hospital. The letter follows:

May 29, 1935

Mr. F. L. Rentz,
New Castle News,
New Castle, Pa.

Dear Mr. Rentz:—

Whereas yesterday's fire on the roof of New Castle hospital was a regretable incident, it, like every gray cloud, had its silver lining. The occasion helped to demonstrate in a marked degree that the inhabitants of our city are very human, we should say Christ-like human, in that they hasten to help where help is needed. Would that we could thank all those who came to our assistance, individually. May God bless them all, and each one in particular.

The highest praise is due to the city officials, who in an incredibly short time appeared on the scene, the police department who maintained such perfect order, and the fire department who handled the situation so effectively that in a very short time the fire was completely under control. New Castle is to be congratulated on possession such efficient organizations. The occasion showed that it is a good city to live in.

We wish also to thank particularly the doctors who by their presence reassured the patients; and the nurses and other personnel who by their calmness and co-operation put in active practice the motto "Fidelity to Duty".

The management of the hospital feels that words are inadequate to describe their appreciation and gratitude.

The damage has not been estimated; but it will be necessary to replace the whole roof by one of fireproof construction.

The accident has given, if possible, a new impetus to all connected with the hospital, to their determination of serving the community by bestowing the utmost care in ministering to the sick that shall be confided to their care.

Yours truly,
New Castle hospital,
Sisters of St. Francis.

Bakery Manager Makes Statement

New Manager Of Orr Baking Company Explains Difficulty At Local Plant

Explanation of the difficulties at the plant of the Orr Baking company here during the past few days were explained in a statement by A. F. Parsons, newly appointed manager of the local plant, as a walkout in sympathy with the old management of the plant, which was changed recently.

Mr. Parson's statement follows:

"Some time ago, the parent company of the Orr Baking company, the Bell Bakeries, Inc., of New York, decided it was advisable to make a change in the management of the Orr Baking Co. When the change was announced to the employes, all but three in the production department walked out in sympathy with the previous management. All but two of the salesmen remained loyal to the company.

"The move was unexpected to the new management and it was necessary, in order to protect the interests of the company, to move the production department of the local bakery immediately to the Youngstown plant of the parent company, so that the supply of bread products in the local district should not be stopped and that employment might continue for the sales department.

"The company was fortunate in securing the services of two local men to replace the two who had left from the sales department.

"The Youngstown unit of the Orr Baking company expects to make every effort to merit the continued good will of the New Castle people, and every effort will be made to better the products manufactured and see that the past good service is maintained."

Mr. Parsons stated that the plant will be maintained here as a distribution unit in the system of the company, but that production would be discontinued here as a result of the difficulty experienced.

TROOP 16 MEETS

Troop 16 of the Mahoningtown Girl Scouts met recently at Walnut Glen for their regular meeting.

The meeting was opened by singing a group of songs, after which everyone went outside and each patrol selected something in nature to dramatize; then the remainder of the troop guessed what it was. This proved great fun.

The girls then formed patrol corners and discussed different matters of importance.

A new game was played called "Sardines." Taps were sung then and the meeting was closed. Some of the mothers were guests of the troop for the meeting.

Court of Honor followed the meeting. Jane Bollinger's patrol will have charge of the opening exercises at the next meeting.

ROOSEVELT GIVES HIS DEDUCTIONS ON NRA DECISION

recent years, he pointed out, has been to keep apace with modern mechanical and scientific development in the field of economics, and the courts have been, in most instances, willing to go along on that basis.

Retracement of Steps

But the NRA decision, he considers a throw-back, a retracement of steps to the "horse and buggy" days.

If the philosophy expressed in the NRA decision is strictly applied, or carried to its logical conclusion, the president believes that it will outlaw the securities and exchange commission, which already has been functioning for months; the AAA, which also has been in operation for a long time; as well as other legislation designed to keep apace with the demands of the times.

And if this decision is to be followed by similar decisions in the future, then Mr. Roosevelt made it plain he felt that the net effect will be to throw the federal government back into a position of ineffectiveness to meet and solve national problems—to a period when each individual state will attempt to regulate its own industries and business irrespective of the effect on the national well-being.

Elasticity Used Before

The elasticity of the constitution has been used before, the president pointed out, particularly in war time when much of the legislation went beyond the strict letter of the constitution, yet was never challenged because of the war emergency. None of the legislation enacted under the new deal has gone as far as this war-time legislation, in his opinion.

As he talked to reporters, Mr. Roosevelt had spread before him a copy of the court's decision, with passages marked, and to which he referred frequently. He was deadly in earnest, and on occasion somewhat caustic in his comment.

This was true at one point where he referred to the court's dicta that mining, manufacturing and agriculture are essentially local enterprises, not affecting directly interstate commerce.

He mentioned former decisions of the court in labor cases, where injunctions against labor had been upheld on the ground that coal coming out of the ground or other mined products affected interstate commerce.

The present decision, he observed, appears to be a reversal of the other decisions, the shoe being on the other foot, and what was essentially an interstate commerce commodity before now becomes only a local product.

People Must Solve Problem

As to what can be done to meet the situation, the president was less positive.

He believes it is a national, not a partisan issue that will have to be solved by the people themselves.

He did not refer specifically to amending the constitution to give the federal government more specific powers over commerce between the states, and greater authority to meet great social and economic problems. But it was evident from the tenor of his remarks that he believes that either the constitution must be liberalized in the light of the NRA decision, or else the federal government must give up completely its efforts to meet social and economic problems that arise under modern conditions.

If the administration accepts the point of view that under no interpretation of law can the federal government seek to control a national economic or social question, then the only course for the federal government is to abandon any legislative attempts to meet these problems, he pointed out.

The president does not believe that a voluntary NRA can be set up and made effective. While a majority of business men or industrialists in any one line might agree among themselves upon a code of fair practice, there would always be the "chiselling" minority that would nullify the efforts of the majority, and thus pull down the structure.

Seek Continuance

Fully 90 per cent of business, in his opinion, desires to conform to fair trade practices. He cited the more than 2,000 telegrams that have reached the White House this week, nearly all of which pleaded for a continuance of the NRA principles in some form. But "chiselling" already has broken out, he observed, and the recalcitrant minority will effectually prevent any orderly procedure unless made to abide by the rules.

Mr. Roosevelt believes the NRA decision represents going back to the philogophy of state's rights, as existing in the early decades of the country's history, and ignoring completely the fact that the automobile, the railroad and the airplane have operated largely to wipe out economic state lines.

He frankly expressed the fear that this may lead to a revival of sectionalism in its worst form.

Recurring again to the interstate commerce clause of the constitution, the president pointed out it was written at a time when, generally speaking, there were no business ethics, no fair practices, and when it was perfectly legitimate for dog-to-eat-dog if he could get away with it. Laws have been written more recently on the accepted belief that the country has grown away from that conception of business, he said.

In making these observations, the president disclaimed any intention of criticizing the supreme court. He was moved to make them, he said, because it has been evident from the messages he received that the full implications and significance of the decision have not been appreciated by the country generally.

Dozens of plans and proposals have have been broached since Monday by well meaning persons, but most of them fall clearly outside the limitations which the court decision laid down on Monday.

Rather than deploring or depreciating the decision as such, Mr. Roosevelt appeared to welcome it as bringing to the fore a very great an non-partisan issue which will mark a turning point in the country's history. He indicated a complete willingness to let the country do the deciding.

The effect of the court's decision, he observed, is to take away from the American government the power that is vested in every other first class nation in the world—the power to legislate on national problems of supreme economic and social consequence.

The administration has, as yet, no definite plans of procedure in the situation, alithough Mr. Roosevelt said in the next few days there will be a series of statements designed to clarify certain specific situations created by Monday's ddecicion.

Trans-Pacific Air Mail Line Given Approval

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 31—Inauguration of the proposed American trans-Pacific air mail line was virtually assured today when Rep. James P. Buchannan (D) of Texas, announced he favored the project.

As chairman of the powerful houses appropriations committee, Buchanan's word frequently is final on congressional money bills. He is said to have vetoed the previous appropriation by the senate pending submission and examination of a presidential budget estimate. The deficiency sub-committee, headed by Buchanan, now is considering the budget request for $1,850,000 to finance the line in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The original proposal to authorize a line from California to Canton, China, may be changed to provide for a terminus at any point in Asia.

MANY CAUSES OF POOR POTATO STANDS

Poor seed and poor storage of seed are two of the most important causes of poor stands in potato plantings.

Other causes of poor stands are careless cutting of seed, too small seed pieces, exposing cut seed to the hot sun, allowing cut seed to heat, planting under extremely hot, dry condtiions, careless planting, and using a defective planter.

A poor stand in the potato field is a handicap that cannot be overcome for the immediate crop. It not only reduces yield but lowers the quality of the crop as well. Poor stands generally result in a high per-centage of large overgrown tubers that are unfit for market.

Many growers lose pride or interest in their crop when they discover that the stand is poor. As a result, they are inclined to give less care and attention to the growing crop than they would with a good stand. It is common to find such fields weedy and poorly sprayed.

With good local and northern-grown seed available at the lowest prices in 15 years, there can be little reason for taking a chance of having a bad stand from poor seed or poorly stored seed.

Growers who lack confidence in the seed they intend to plant will do well to replace it with seed they know to be good and to have been properly stored. This does not mean purchasing local seed that is questionable as to origin or as to the number of years it has been grown locally. It means possessing definite proof of the quality of the seed or the number of years it has been stored.

GROW EMERGENCY CROP FOR SUMMER PASTURES

Late July and the month of August are nearly always short pasture months, during which heavy supplementary feeding with grain and silage or soiling crops is necessary to prevent serious falling off in milk production.

Sometimes there are fields of second crop clover which can be pastured, but the surest and most productive pasture for the hot, dry months seems to be Sudan grass. It is ready to graze 5 or 6 weeks after seeding and on good soil will carry as many as three cows an acre from July 15 until killed by frost. Sometimes the first growth is pastured later. It is advantageous but not necessary to have two patches of Sudan grass, so that one may be recovering while the other is being grazed.

Sudon grass seed should be drilled shallow on a well-prepared seedbed about June 1 at the rate of 30 or 40 pounds per acre. Manure, oi liberal use of a good complete fertilizer high in nitrogen, will stimulate maximum growth. There is some evidence that Sudan grass does not thrive on very sour soil without lime. The cattle may be turned on when the grass is about 18 inches high, Sudan grass is related to the sorghums and may be poisonous after it is frosted.

KEEP BEES BUSY TO PREVENT SWARMING

In many colonies the brood chamber is crowded with nectar, honey, and brood and the bees are preparing to swarm.

Steps should be taken to keep the colony actively at work and satisfied so that the bees will work without interruption. If queen cells are built for swarming the colony soon begins to loaf and the surplus crop is reduced.

Swarming occurs oftener during a light honey flow previous to the main honey flow when the hive becomes crowded with honey and bees, or during a regular honey flow when the bees are confined to the hive because of cold or wet weather.

Swarm control practices consist of removing the drone comb and substituting comb foundation, providing plenty of super space for storing honey, providing shade, providing additional ventilating space, and removing queen cells every 10 days.

FEED COWS GRAIN WHEN TURNED OUT ON GRASS

Too often the pasture season is welcomed as the time when grain feeding is considered unnecessary. Grass is a bulky feed containing about 75 to 90 per cent water, depending upon its maturity. It is rich in mineral matter, mediumly high in protein, but slightly low in energy-producing nutrients.

When the cows first are turned on pasture, grain should be fed at the same rate as when they are on dry feed. As the grass becomes more abundant and mature grain may be withheld from cows giving small quantities of milk if they are to freshen in the fall. Cows producing more than 20 to 25 pounds of milk daily should get one pound of grain for each 5 or 6 pounds given by Jerseys and Guernseys and one pound of grain for each 6 or 7 pounds produced by the other breeds. Heavy producers should get special care.

ORPHAN FOAL CAN BE GROWN ON COW'S MILK

If the colt's mother dies or has no milk, the foal may, with proper care, be raised on cow's milk.

Milk from a fresh cow is preferable, and it should be low in butterfat. To a tablespoonful of sugar add warm water to dissolve, then 3 to 5 tablespoonfuls of lime water to correct digestive troubles, and enough fresh milk to make a pint. Feed about one-fourth pint of this mixture every hour for the first few days, always warming to blood heat.

An ordinary nursing bottle with a large nipple can be used satisfactorily in feeding the foal. All utensils should be scalded before using. Such feeding takes time, but many foals have died when these important details have been neglected.

As the foal grows, the amount of milk may be gradually increased, the period between feedings lenthened, and whole milk substituted. After a few days, six feedings a day may be enough and later only four. At 3 to 4 weeks of age the sugar may be dropped, but it is well to continue the lime water. In 5 or 6 weeks, sweet skimmilk may be gradually substituted for whole milk and after three months the foal may be given all it will drink three times a day.

If scours should develop, as is likely to happen with a hand-fed colt, a good remedy consists of 2 to 4 tablespoonfuls of a mixture of sweet oil and pure castor oil shaken up in a little milk. The feeding of milk should be stopped for 2 or 3 meals, and only sweetened warm water with lime water given during that time.

At the earliest possible age, which will probably be from 3 to 4 weeks of age, the foal should be fed solid food, which as oatmeal, crushed oats, bran, corn, and a little oil meal and legume hay. The colt should get plenty of exercise in a lot or a grass paddock.

AVOID SPRING FEVER BY EATING CORRECTLY

These lazy spring days cause a lag in our appetites. Somehow the traditional winter meals seem drab when the earth is throbbing with color and life. Miss Eleanor Drury, home economics extension representative, urges homemakers to consider nature's example when planning meals.

Color is of prime importance as most of us "eat with our eyes". Sometimes the family may be surprised by using the good dishes. This will create a stir and will usually make the most commonplace food appetizing. Wild flowers, as a center piece, dress up any table. Colorful fruits and vegetables not only pep up a full meal but they provide many health-giving minerals and vitamins, which are so much more pleasant to take than sulphur and molasses. Lastly, garnishes, such as green peppers, radishes, pimentos, peaches and olives, will add a lot to the color value of food.

New life can easily be added to these spring meals by using variety and change. This is the time of year to use those clipped out recipes most housewives collect to try sometime, Miss Drury reminds. House clean on old recipes and create a new dish by using different spices and flavors. Celery salt, green pepper, onion, and cheese may conver an old standy into something new and thrilling. Almond or lemon flavoring, used for aakes either separately or combined with vanilla, is a change. Start the meals with an appetizer like tomato juice, fruit juice, or a salad.

Now combine all these things together and try a buffet supper or a lunch eaten out on the lawn, under the trees and see how quickly dull appetites disappear, Miss Drury recommends.

Would Establish State Safety Body

Commission Would Have Broad Powers To Promote Safety

INCREASE IN AUTO ACCIDENTS CAUSE

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 31.—In an effort to stem the rising tide of automobile accidents, Senator Charles R. Mallery, Blair, has introduced a bill to create a state highway accident prevention commission to adopt and enforce a concentrated "never-ending campaign" of highway safety.

The commission would be given broad powers to promote highway safety education, conduct safety campaigns, devise plans for elimination of highway hazards, coordinate all work dealing with highway engineering and law enforcement, revoke drivers' licenses for law violations, and to "perform all such other duties" as come within the scope of increasing safety.

The bill also specifically instructs the commission to study the "feasibility of providing a center separation of traffic going in opposite directions."

Mallery, in a preamble to his bill, cited the increasing auto accident toll as the reason for creating the commission. He pointed out that 2,075 persons were killed in auto crashes in Pennsylvania last year—23 persons for each 100,000 population, 88 for each 10,000 automobiles in the state and 22 for each 10,000,000 gallons of gasoline used.

Members of the commission would be the secretaries of revenue and highways, the superintendent of public instruction, the chairman of the public service commission, the superintendents of the state police and the highway patrol and an executive director appointed by the governor.

MILLBURN

GRANGE SERVICE

A beautiful and impressive memorial service conducted by the chaplain, Mrs. Esther Johnston, was held during the lecture hour of the last regular meeting of Millburn Grange. Music, recitation of the Twenty-third Psalm by Jean Johnston, the repeating of the Lord's Prayer by the grange, reading of the roll of the deceased members of the grange, and Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar" by M. At the next regular meeting of the grange on June 14, the first and second degrees of the order will be conferred in full form on a class of eight. The program for the evening will be under the direction of the home economics committee and is as follows: Roll call; Women, What Has Proved To Be the Most Convenient Feature of Your Home; Men, What I'd Do To Save Work If I Was Running Our House"; music, recitation, "She's Such a Fidgety Thing," H. W. Johnston; music; discussion, "Conveniences in the Home," H. J. Minich; poem, Mrs. George Masters; discussion, "What Can We Men Do To Make Our Homes More Comfortable," M. B. Orr, John Masson, Harry Metzger; recitation, "Home" by Edgar Guest—Charles Masters; discussion, "My Conception of An Ideal Home," Mrs. Sara Davis, Robert Neal; music, "Home Sweet Home."

Violations Of Milk Control Act Are Investigated

Investigators Are Gathering Evidence In Western Pennsylvania Now

Investigators for the milk control board are in western Pennsylvania gathering evidence of violations of the new milk control act, it was learned here today.

The new law in effect since April 30, strengthens the hand of the milk control board in its effort to stabilize the dairy industry.

First and second offenders may be convicted and fined by any magistrate in the State, while third and subsequent offenders must, as before, be tried before a court of common pleas. Each day of violation is deemed a separate offense.

Anyone may now take action to enforce the law. This power was formerly given only to the board.

Are you serving a MINUS MEAL?

Many wives, unknowingly, serve "minus meals." The food is good, and well cooked. But it has little or no "bulk"—needed to promote regular habits.

"Minus meals" frequently cause common constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in the diet. Headaches, loss of appetite and dull, spiritless days too often follow.

Correct the "minus meal" by serving Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly. Its gentle "bulk" does not break down in the body as much as the fiber in fruits and vegetables. So it is more effective. ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B and iron.

Certainly it is safer to use this natural food in place of patent medicines. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If relief is not obtained, see your doctor.

ALL-BRAN remains effective with continued use. Serve as a cereal with milk or cream, or cook into muffins, breads, waffles, etc. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Must Strengthen Liquor Regulation

Breakdown Of NRA To Require New Legislation

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 31.—With alcoholic beverage codes broken down by the supreme court's decision outlawing the NRA, the treasury moved to assume complete control of this traffic.

Officials said that legislation to strengthen regulation of the liquor traffic would be necessary and probably would be recommended to congress within a short time.

Herman Oliphant, chief counsel of the treasury, conferred with Attorney General Cummings as to the steps required to maintain regulation of the alcoholic beverage traffic.

Under the internal revenue laws the treasury has a certain degree of control, that is under the taxing power. However, the treasury has no authority to license distilleries or to maintain control over production, a function that has been under the jurisdiction of the federal alcohol control administration.

GUFFNEY USES MAYOR'S BATHTUB

(International News Service)

NEW CASTLE, Del., May 31—A man who claims to be Thomas Gaffney, 21, of North Bergen, N. J., took a bath early today in Mayor Chas. E. Klingmeyer's bathtub and now he's all washed up.

Awakened by the flow of running water. Klingmeyer peeked into the bath room. There was Gaffney calmly splashing about.

State troopers summoned by the mayor found the bather drying himself. In his clothes, police said they found the mayor's watch, several dollars and jewelry.

"Gee, I wish I hadn't yielded to that temptation to linger and bathe" mused Gaffney.

"When he's in jail" observed Klingmeyer, "he'll have time to wish he had resisted the temptation to steal."

ELECTRIC BILL INCREASED

38c over last year

That's the story told on the face of these reprints of an actual customer's bills. . . . BUT here is the story between the lines that justifies, to this customer, the New Low Rates. The Bills do not show the added leisure, convenience and happiness brought to that home through Electric Refrigeration; they don't show the safeguarded Health afforded that family; they don't show the savings resulting from food kept sweet, fresh and unspoiled; all by Electric Refrigeration. . . . Yet those extra 55 KWH which were used this year would more than operate their Refrigerator for the whole month. . . . And 38c paid for all that "more abundant life". No servant, other than Electric, would do so much work for so few pennies. . . . .

Says He Had To Cut Fog With Hatchet

Champion "Tall Story Teller" Tells About His Remarkable Experience

(International News Service)

HOUSTON, Pa., May 31.—Hestel Huffman, Waynesburg, reigns supreme as the champion "tall story teller" of Houston's "liar club."

More than 500 stories were submitted in the club's first "liar competition," patterned after the eliminations held last year in Chicago to name "the world's champion liar."

Huffman's yarn described a trip in a truck he made last fall with a helper. While traveling in Washington county, he said, they encountered a fog so thick "the driver had to cut a path through it with a hatchet."

But let Huffman tell the rest of the story:

"We cut the fog into blocks and stored it in my garage. Last summer I used it to irrigate my garden. Each morning I placed three blocks of fog in the garden and the sun would melt it, thus watering the garden.

"At the conclusion of the summer I found I still had three blocks of fog left and so, the night before Christmas, I ground them up and sprinkled it all over our block. Since it didn't snow, our block was the only one which enjoyed a white Christmas and the youngsters had a wonderful time fog-balling when they thought they were snow-balling."

Medical Profession Have Queer Case

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 31.—Two successive cases of scarlet fever, contracted within 30 days by a 13-year-old girl of the Sylvan Heights orphanage, has provided the local medical profession with a novel case.

The disease, physicians pointed out, rarely develops successively within that many days. Cases have been recorded in Harrisburg where one patient contracted scarlet fever twice within nine months, regarded as an unusually short period.

Petillo Wins In 500-Mile Grind At Indianapolis

Italian Averages 106.240 For New Track Record Despite Light Drizzling Rain

CLAY WEATHERLY ONLY CASUALTY

By JOHN C. HOFFMAN
International News Service Sports Writer.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 31.—Kelly Petillo, an inscrutable mite of an Italian with an infectious grin, is the first citizen of the automotive world.

For one thing, he is alive. That is more than can be said for Clay Weatherly of Cincinnati, who couldn't quite make the northwest turn wall at the Indianapolis speedway in yesterday's race and remain intact. Weatherly died instantly when his car leaped the wall at 110 miles an hour and burst into flames.

There was yet another casualty. Weatherly's mechanic, Ed Bradburn, suffered a broken back in the crash and is in a critical condition.

One Man Killed.

Not satisfied with the killing of Weatherly, the 500-mile grind, viewed by more than 150,000 persons, the largest crowd in the history of the event, saw Al Gordon go over the wall at the same place. Neither Gordor nor his mechanic was injured in the smashup, thanks to metal helmets both men wore when they essayed to clear the wall without ceremony.

Both cars were demolished, but only one man died His was the fourth fatality claimed in the culmination of the 23rd annual speed classic.

Petillo accepted the verdict with a good-natured grin . His first thought was for Wilbur Shaw, who finished second.

He said:

"That guy had me worried. He was right after me all the time."

It was the first time that Petillo had enjoyed any success in five years of racing. Heretofore, motor trouble has dogged the game little Italian every time he has pointed a car around the hazardous course.

Mays Forced Out.

The hero of the race was Rex Mays, upstart Californian, who led for more than 300 miles, but who was forced out of the running with mechanical trouble. Mays held the post position at the outset, and maintained a blinding pace until he was compelled to take to the pits.

Petillo averaged 106.240 despite necessity of driving 33 miles in a light rain and in the face of a caution flag. During this period he was forced to drive at less than 75 miles an hour. The previous record for the 500-mile grind was 104.863 set by Bill Cummings, who won the 1934 race.

Yanks-Giants League Leaders

Pirates Split With Chicago Cubs, Indians Divide With White Sox

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 31.—Only a year ago faint hearted pessimists were trying to make us believe baseball was no longer the national game and that the near future would see ball park's being cut up into building lots.

Baseball supplied its own answer yesterday when some 250,000 stormed the turnstiles for Memorial Day doubleheaders.

Big Crowds

The Giants and Dodgers set a new National League record at the Polo Grounds where 63,943 paid their way in and where more than 25,000 were turned away an hour before game time. If baseball has slipped in the affection of the public it wasn't noticeable yesterday.

The Giants obliged their supporters by taking the doubleheader from their arch enemies from across the bridge, 8-3, and 6-0. Bud Parmelee and Fred Fitzsimmons were the winning pitchers. Fat Freddy held the Dodgers to two singles, one of which was a scratch, by Buzz Boyle. Parmelee's task was made easy by his mates who fell on Van Mungo, ace of the Dodger's staff, for five hits, including homers by Al Cuccinello and Mel Ott, and six runs in the first heat.

over the Cubs who split two with the Pirates and if the rest of the pack doesn't show something pretty soon, the Giants will have the race sewed up by July 4.

The Cubs beat Blanton in the opener, 6-4, but dropped the nightcap, 4 to 1, when Red Lucas held them to six hits.

The Phillies took a pair from the fast-slipping Braves, 11-6 and 9-3, coming from behind with a seven-run blast in the eighth to take the first and bunching hits early on Huck Betts to take the second. Old Jess Haines won his second game of the year for the Cards by taking the Reds over, 12-5. The Cards made it a double victory by rallying in the eighth inning of the second game, scoring three runs, to win 4 to 2.

The Yanks moved into first place in the American League by taking a pair from the Senators while the White Sox were dividing with the Indians.

Tamulis-Whitehead Win

Vito Tamulis, young southpaw, accounted for the first Yankee game with his second shutout in as many starts, and 18 hits behind him made Johnny Broaca's task easy in the nightcap. The scores were 4-0 and 9-3.

Johnny Whitehead, sensational Sox rookie, hung up his eighth straight victory. Homers by Dykes, Bonura and Radcliff helped him to an 8-4 decision. In the second tilt, the Sox could get but two hits off Willis Hudlin's fine flinging and were subdued, 4-0.

The Browns hammered out a 10-7 decision over the Tigers and then were let down with three hits by Tommy Bridges and dropped the second, 2-0.

Wes Ferrell, Red Sox veteran, had the distinction of both winning and losing a game. Pitching on his own account he turned in a six hitter to beat the A's 7-4. But, called on, when the second game went into extra innings, he was pounded for five runs in the 11th and lost, 13-8.

West Side Civics Split Two Games

West Side Civics split a double bill yesterday with the Pulaski team, dropping the morning game at the Pulaski field, 12 to 7, and winning the afternoon game at Pulaski, 13 to 7.

George Schaas and J. Schaas had the pitching duties for the West Siders in the morning game and although George Schaas fanned 10 men, lost the decision. R. Genger and Kochanski pitched for the winners.

Paul Morrison hurled the afternoon game for the Civics and held the Pulaskians to nine hits and whiffed seven men. Kochanski and Stowe were the hurlers for the Pulaskis, and were found for 18 hits. The West Side Civics were formerly known as the Champion Batteries.

Accessories, Tires, Parts

THIS prosperity club dollar chain letter craze reminds Fleetwing Dewberry of another scheme—not on so large a scale—that was worked in town not so long ago. It was the rabbit swindle. The big guy wanted to start Frank by selling him 4 rabbits. Soon these would multiply to 400 and his company would not only buy all the hides at a fancy price but there would be enough meat to feed 108 Dewberrys. He guaranteed Frank at least $10,000 a year clear profit. We didn't try it but a bird up on the east side who did, had some rabbit meat for his trouble but he never cashed in because there was no market for his furs. 1t—6

Gains By Several Stocks In Nervous Market Are Recorded Today

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 31.—The stock market displayed a nervous tone today, although several utilities moved up to the best levels of the advance and oil shares rallied under leadership of Standard of New Jersey, which moved up a point.

Case Threashing lost around a point. U. S. Steel held in a narrow range while Bethlehem was quiet.

Rails were firm but gains were fractional.

Commodities were generally better, by and large, but sugar and silk were weak. Silver rose nearly 2 cents and cotton and grains were firmer. Bonds were irregular. Gold currencies were extremely weak in foreign exchanges, reflecting the French situation.

Columbia Gas, National Power and North American rose fractionally.

U. S. Smelting gained 2 points. Motor shares sagged slightly.

Alcohols were firmer and tobaccos under further pressure.

Memorial Day Observed Here

Great Throngs Participate In Annual Celebration In Ellwood Yesterday

ADDRESS GIVEN BY ATTY. HUMPHREY

ELLWOOD CITY, May 31.—Impressive tribute to the soldier dead was paid in Ellwood City yesterday when the annual Memorial Day observance was held, with great throngs participating. The entire city was bedecked in flags. Weather conditions for the celebration here were ideal.

Traffic on Main street, Fifth street and the vicinity of Legion Park was practically at a standstill at parade time. The parade was well organized. It formed about 9:30 on Crescent avenue, Fifth and Sixth streets. It moved sharply at 10 o'clock, the selected time. The parade consisted of all the patriotic organizations of the city, Boy and Girl Scouts, fraternal organizations, borough and school officials, the high school band, the Italian Band and the American Legion bugle and drum corps.

Large Parade

The procession moved west on Crescent avenue to Ninth street; north on Ninth street to Lawrence avenue; east on Lawrence avenue to Fifth street; north on Fifth street to Wampum avenue. Then there was a counter-march on the bridge, where the parade stopped for the services of the Ladies of the G. A. R. in honor of sailors who died at sea. Then it proceeded south on Fifth street to Glenn avenue; east on Glenn avenue to Fourth street; south at Fourth street to Legion Park, where the parade disbanded for the memorial service. The entire police force of the city participated in the celebration besides directing traffic and seeing that things had gone off smoothly.

Burgess Judd C. Turner, general chairman of the affair, presided at the program at Legion Park. After the playing of "America" by the high school band, Rev. J. R. Routledge, chaplain of the local J. Wilbur Randolph Post of the American Legion, led in prayer. Burgess turner then introduced the chief marshal of the day, Charles Markle, a Spanish-American War veteran. This was followed with Lincoln's Gettysburg address by Robert Stroble of the local high school. Then there was a selection by the Taylor quartet, composed of Robert Taylar, P. W. Blocher, William Jones and William Blocher.

Humphrey Speaks

While introducing the speaker of the day, Attorney J. W. Humphrey of this city, Burgess Turner pointed that the trees in Legion Park—15 in number, represented the number of men from Ellwood City who laid down their lives in the great war.

The speaker likened our land as a great building under whose roof is gathered every condition of our great national family. Within the limits of these walls are the great things that characterize our great country. Here are the highest and best to command our great loyalty, love and sacrifice. The inception of our country, a noble venture, was made by those iron men and great souls to establish a home where they might enjoy life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. Then Mr. Humphrey told how these men for seven years had staked everything in the Revolutionary War, that they might enjoy this. Their achievement has not been forgotten. Our country was nearly disrupted in the Civil War, but thanks to a great humanitarian and leader, its principles were preserved, as well as the country. Some time after another half century our armies were again called upon to maintain our tradition, homes and institutions. They accredited themselves nobly and made the world safe.

New Danger Here

Our country has been made strong and enduring because of the sacrifice of these men. But our peaceful existence is again threatened—but this time by enemies within our own land. The danger is subtle and destructive, cruel propaganda is stealing away our rights. The speaker told of the reign of crime and the indifference of the public to this until recently. The public has been shirking the duties of citizenship when it failed to observe the plight of our country. Noble living, love of country, loyalty and service to country is once again reappearing. These are the high purpose and ambitions which are the fruitage and harvests of the devoted lives of our great men and women. Taking the example of the lives of our great men such as Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and Wilson, will set us on the right path. There must be men and women of pure, true character, strong in their convictions in questions of right and wrong, but with tact and patience to lead the way to the great things a kind Providence has in store for us.

In closing the speaker said: "Let us thank God for this day of living, for the refining fires that consume the dross and purify the gold. Our suffering and loss are not void, they are the price of a new advance in civilization. A new America is in the making. We can all have a part in it, especially the young men and women. It is not easy, but it is glorious. The old and the false pass away; the new and the just are being ushered in. Our day of suffering and loss is but the hour of travail that ushers in the new life."

The address was followed with a selection by the American Legion drum and bugle corps and then the ritual by the Sons of Veterans, led by Joe Daugherty and J. A. Leisey. There was another selection by the Taylor quartet, followed with the "Star Spangled Banner", by the Italian band. After the benediction by the Rev. R. H. Little of the M. E. church the program closed with the sounding of taps.

A dinner was served after this in the Emmanuel Reformed church for the ladies of the G. A. R., Gold Star Mothers, speaker of the day, the chief marshal and others. At the close of the program Burgess Turner thanked the various committees and all those who had a hand in the observance and participated in it.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Just Think of It

First Group Policy For Steel Men Was Issued Here In '26

Recall Carnegie Group Plan As U. S. Steel Makes New Plan Known

The nation this week heard announced in New York that the United State Steel corporation has awarded to eight large life insurance firms a group life insurance policy totalling $400,000,000 but few know that it was in New Castle in 1926 that such a group plan was first introduced.

Since 1926, when the Edward A. Woods Company, general agents of the Equitable Life Assurance society, one of the eight insurance participants, issued a group policy to the New Castle works of Carnegie Steel, 29 plants of the steel corporation have taken its group insurance.

It is estimated, M. J. Donnelly, field vice president of the Woods company here, said today, that 100,000 employes of the steel corporation affected by the new steel plan are residents of the tri-state district. Donnelly is the man responsible for the first group policy written with Carnegie here.

District employes of the corporation today were eargerly awaiting details of the new group plan.

Writing in his column, "Business Today," Financal Editor Arthur R. Friedman, of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, said on Wednesday:

"The uppermost question, of course, is the cost. Many subsidiaries and individual plants of the corporation now have in effect various forms of group insurance. The difference between the old and new plans likely will be found in the cost since under the new plan the cost will be borne jointly by the corporation and the employes, while the old was borne entirely by the participants.

"The basis of cost to the employes under the new plan will be 75 cents per month per $1,000 of insurance."

The amount of insurance which an employee may apply for is based upon his annual earnings.

RUSSIA SAYS SUPREME COURT REACTIONARY

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, May 31—The Supreme Court "is the most reactionary institution in the United States" the official Communist party organ Izvestia declared today in commenting upon the outlawing of the NRA.

Attacking the capitalist system, Izvestia said:

"The Blue Eagle already had been severely mangled by capitalist hawks. Capital will save all that was valuable to itself in the NRA, and will not abandon the monopolistic position which the NRA strengthened."
